Captain Suspended Company Must Pay Expenses Of Probe

OTTAWA (CP)—The owners and master of the cruise ship Noronic were blamed by a Supreme Court of Canada judge today for the Sept. 17 flash fire that took 118 lives as the luxury vessel lay at her Toronto dock.

Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, reporting as commissioner in a transport department inquiry, ordered the master's certificate of Capt. William Taylor of Sarnia, Ont., suspended for a year and recommended a series of tightened safety regulations for such vessels as the Noronic.

Noronic Captain Retains Status With Employers

MONTREAL (BUP)—Capt. William Taylor's status with Canada Steamship Lines was unaltered and he would be given another command when his suspension was lifted, company officials said today.

However, they said the 66-year-old master was a very ill man and there appeared little chance of his returning to duty.

The C.S.L. officials said Taylor would have had two more seasons on the Great Lakes before retiring. They denied the master was on his last voyage when the fire broke out.

TO GET PENSION

"As far as the company is concerned Captain Taylor's status remains unchanged. He will receive his pension when he reaches the retiring age of 68," they stated.

Asked whether the master would be allowed to take command of another of the C.S.L. ships in the event of him regaining his health, the officials answered emphatically: "Definitely, once his suspension is lifted."

General Motors' Oshawa Plant To Resume Tuesday

OSHAWA, Ont. (BUP)—Officials of the General Motors Corporation, strikebound three weeks ago following a speed-up order, said today their assembly lines would resume full production Tuesday.

Members of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers' Union voted Saturday to end the walkout of some 5,500 G.M. employees and to accept a compromise settlement formula.

The first shift to enter the plant gates in 21 days went to work Sunday night to stoke cooled furnaces and get things ready for full-scale operations tomorrow.

A union spokesman said 79 per cent of the strikers had agreed to accept the company's settlement proposals.

The company agreed to reduce penalties levied against four

In a 30,000-word report tabled in the Commons shortly after he had delivered a brief court judgment suspending the captain, Mr. Justice Kellock found the loss of the ship and the loss of life had resulted from "failure" of Canada Steamship Lines Lt. and Capt. Taylor to take adequate precautions against fire.

In particular, the judge censured the owners and master for failure to provide proper means of detecting and fighting fires while in dock and for getting passengers off the ship should it take fire in port.

CLOSE STUDY

Acting Transport Minister Howe, tabling the report, told Parliament the government would "carefully consider" the commissioner's recommendations and he expressed hope the investigation would be the "means of preventing disasters of this kind in the future."

Besides suspending the captain's certificate, Mr. Justice Kellock also assessed against the owner-company the expenses incurred by the transport department in the 14-day investigation held at Toronto.

Red Military Force In Albania Doubled In Last Four Months

BELGRADE (AP)—Responsible sources say Russia has increased the number of her military men stationed in Albania to an estimated 12,000 to 15,000, about twice as many as were there four months ago.

The reports, apparently authentic, came from responsible non-Yugoslav sources who said, however, they could not give the exact number of Russian forces in the little Soviet satellite which is surrounded by Yugoslavia, Greece and the Adriatic Sea.

The reports said the Russian newcomers to Albania appeared to be technicians, officers skilled in guerrilla warfare and training experts.

Milk Truck Bowled Over In Collision; Boy Is Injured

A 17-year-old boy sustained minor injuries in a Topaz Avenue and Blackwood Street collision shortly after 8 this morning in which a half-ton milk truck was bowled over on its roof and skidded for 50 feet. The streets intersect on a hill.

Milk and broken glass from the dozen crates on the truck were scattered about the street and side of the road. The boy was the only one hurt.

Constables James Baxter and J. Deans Blackstock, of the new city police traffic division investigating the scene, said the boy was a passenger in the milk truck, which was proceeding west on Topaz and driven by Leonard S. James, 3850 Saanich Road. It was in collision with a car driven by John R. Dawson, 2928 Blackwood, proceeding south on that street.

Constable Baxter rendered first aid to the boy before he was taken to Jubilee Hospital by Constable A. Wilson and A. Newsome.

The truck, which was considerably damaged, stopped in its roof skid about 125 feet from the intersection.

Hopes Fade For Plane With 35

OSLO (AP)—A plane carrying 28 undernourished Jewish refugee children from North Africa was missing today, believed crashed somewhere in tangled forest country near Oslo.

The plane with 35 aboard—28 children, three nurses and four crew members—sent its last radio message about 6 p.m. Sunday as it neared Oslo's Bornebu Airport. Soon afterwards a sharp flash of light, followed by an explosion, was seen near Gjerstoen Lake, a mile southeast of Oslo.

Hundreds of searchers struggled through the trees and swamps in the Gake Region during the night and this morning searching for a trace of the missing craft.

GOAL WAS ISRAEL

The 28 children were in a group of 55 North African Jews from Tunis being flown to Norway for six months of rest and rehabilitation before traveling on to Israel. Most were between 6 and 12 years of age.

The missing plane, a twin-engine DC-3 transport, was operated by a Netherlands company, Aero Holland.

Visibility was obscured by clouds as the incoming plane reported it was over Ilo Fjord only a mile or two from the capital.

Aero Holland, owners of the plane, announced at The Hague that the plane was considered lost.

The men pounced on the couple, DeSantis said, tying them with adhesive tape and two stockings. One of them then beat DeSantis with a piece of rubber hose, forcing him to tell where his money was hidden in the house.

They did not leave until they had obtained $540 in cash and a valuable ladies' diamond ring.

DeSantis said the men were armed.

George Prosser, gasoline service station attendant, was the other holdup victim. He said two men entered the service station and asked him to change a $10 bill.

When he said he did not have the change, one of the men produced a revolver. He opened the cash register and took $80, six automobile rental contracts and the deposits for six rented cars.

Guay's Lawyers Ask Protection

QUEBEC (CP)—Defence counsel for J. Albert Guay, the Quebec jeweler charged with murder in the Sault au Cochon airplane disaster, declared they would request "adequate protection" for their client during his trial here Jan. 9.

The announcement, made in a signed statement by Bertrand Marcotte and Gerard Levesque, followed a report from Plainville, Mass., that 18-year-old Patrick J. Parker planned to take a "vengeance trip" to Montreal "and kill the man responsible" for his father's death in the plane crash.

Grim Story Told By Lost B-29 Survivors

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP)—Beefsteak, families, insurance and "move over and give me a little room."

That's what survivors of the ditched B-29 said they thought about during 79 "miserable" hours on two six-man life rafts in heavy Atlantic swells north of Bermuda.

The 18 survivors—four of them on stretchers—arrived here Sunday afternoon aboard the Canadian destroyer Haida. The ship picked them up Saturday afternoon after a United States Air Force B-17 had sighted them about 400 miles northeast of Bermuda.

drowned before they could get through the heavy swells from the plane to the two life rafts. One of the 18 survivors was suffering considerably from shock.

But 14 of the bruised and salt-soaked airmen walked unaided from the crashboats that brought them to the shore from the destroyer. They grinned at the wildly cheering hundreds who watched them transfer to ambulances that took them to the Kinsey air base hospital here.

Most of the men were considered in good condition. Some had suffered sprains. Some had salt water sores. But the majority seemed fairly fit.

Sanity Test For Youth Who Planned To Kill Saboteur

PLAINVILLE, Mass. (UP)—Sanity tests were ordered today for a Brown University freshman who had hoped to enlist the unwitting aid of Canada's Prime Minister in a fantastic scheme to avenge his father's death.

Patrick J. Parker, 28, of Rye, N.Y., was sent to the Foxboro State (Mental) Hospital for 10 days' observation after a sorrowful reunion in a courtroom with his widowed mother and older brother, Michael, 20, a Yale senior.

Parker was arrested Saturday night, 20 minutes after he had allegedly held up a liquor store and obtained $55.60—the cash needed for a round-trip plane ride to Quebec.

There, he said, he hoped to slay jeweler Albert Guay, who allegedly had a time-bomb secreted in a plane which blew up Sept. 9, killing 23 persons, including the jeweler's wife and Parker's father.

After a 20-minute conference in chambers with Walpole District Judge Herbert D. Robinson, Parker pleaded innocent at a private hearing to charges of armed robbery and gun carrying. The judge ordered him held in $12,000 bail pending the outcome of mental tests.

The name of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada was injected into the case by a police official who said the Canadian leader was a close friend of the Parker family. He said a man identifying himself as St. Laurent had telephoned Sunday night to get information concerning young Parker's case.

Parker's father was R. J. Parker, vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Co. and president of the Quebec Iron & Tatum Co.

Report May Bring Tighter Legislation On Shipping

OTTAWA (BUP)—Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier may shortly bring in legislation to tighten up regulations under the Canada Shipping Act, it was indicated in the Commons today.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe, in answer to a question from Howie Green (C.P.C.-Vancouver), said he would be "very surprised" if my colleague (Chevrier) doesn't bring in such legislation at the earliest possible date.

Mr. Chevrier was absent from the chamber because of illness.

Mr. Green had said that in the light of the Noronic disaster there was urgent need for a thorough revision of shipping regulations.

NO COMMENT

TORONTO (BUP)—Col. K. R. Marshall, president of Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., refused immediate comment on the Noronic findings today but said he might release a statement tomorrow.

Marshall said he was still studying the report handed to Parliament today by Supreme Court Justice R. L. Kellock, who as a special commissioner inquired into the disastrous fire aboard the ship "Sept. 17" which killed at least 118.

"The C.S.L. president said he would be in Montreal tomorrow.

Boy Hurt In Bomb Blast Dies During Operation

Children making bombs with chemicals brought tragedy to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Barr, 1317 Finlayson Street, with the death of their 15-year-old son, Lawrence, Saturday night.

A home-made bomb exploded prematurely and blew off four or five of Lawrence Barr's fingers about noon Saturday. He died on the operating table at Jubilee Hospital six hours later.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, has ordered an inquest for Wednesday morning at 10 at McCall Bros. Funeral Parlors.

City police reported that the death was not reported to them until 9:30 Sunday morning.

The boy is believed to have been suffering from anemia.

With Lawrence prior to the explosion in the basement at 1317 Highview Avenue, were Lail Mowat, 14, of 1330 Finlayson, who lost two fingers in a similar explosion a few weeks ago, and Jack Willoughby, 14, of 3136 Highview.

Mowat and Willoughby had left the basement just before the explosion occurred.

Passing truck-driver John Gillespie, 3821 Epsom Drive, also heard the loud report and stopped. He took Barr and his two companions to the hospital, according to Constable Rodney McNeill of the city police, who investigated the case.

It has been reported that the driver of the truck was not sure where the hospital emergency entrance was and that the three boys left the vehicle and ran a considerable distance to the treatment centre.

Barr is believed to have lost two fingers on one hand and two of three on the other from the explosion.

A ninth-grade Victoria High School student, Barr belonged to an airplane hobby club and was practising to join a hockey team.

Wisner Hails Ruling As Victory For B.C.

The Privy Council ruling in the Empress Hotel case, announced today in London, was hailed by Attorney-General Gordon S. Wisner as another victory for the provincial government.

Mr. Wisner said that the ruling meant that all railway hotels in the province would come under the labor laws of British Columbia.

The Privy Council ruled against the Canadian Pacific Railway Company which had appealed from a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada. The immediate question decided by the highest court of the realm was whether or not the B.C. Hours of Work Act applied in the case of the railway-operated hotel in Victoria.

Officials of the Attorney-General's department said, however, that the ruling established the principle that all B.C. labor laws would apply in railway hotels. This will include the province's minimum wage laws and the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, which provides for collective bargaining and procedure in settlement of disputes.

The government's case was presented by Senator J. W. deB. Farris and Alan Maclean, assistant Deputy Attorney-General for B.C.

He pointed out there have been several such accidents to members of the younger generation from the same cause over a period of time.

Siamese Twins Born In Alberta Reported 'Fine'

TOFFIELD, Alta. (CP)—Siamese twin girls, born to Mrs. E. A. (Bod) Townsend, 26, in the Toffield Municipal Hospital were reported today to be "doing fine."

The babies, weighing a total of nine pounds 12 ounces, were born last Thursday morning, but a report of the birth was not published until today.

Mr. Townsend, 22-year-old clerk for Northwestern Utilities Ltd., said the children are united at the abdomen in front but otherwise are "perfectly developed."

He said it was hard to say yet whether any attempt would be made to separate them. There was no need to put the babies in an incubator at first, but they now have been placed in one to build them up.

Mr. Townsend said it is likely they will be taken to hospital in Edmonton later.

The children are the first born to the Townsends, who have been married 17 months.

They expected twins, but Mr. Townsend said "it was quite a blow" when it was discovered they were joined. He said Mrs. Townsend had come through the ordeal "remarkably well" and is making good progress in the hospital.

Firm Begins Studies On Motor Branch

An efficiency survey of the rapidly-expanding, 8,000-member provincial civil service was announced this afternoon.

In a joint statement Premier Byron Johnson and Attorney-General Gordon S. Wisner announced the firm of Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd., management engineers which this year made a survey of the Victoria city administration, had been appointed to make a thorough examination of the administration of the motor license branch with a view to determining what methods can be adopted to improve the efficiency and at the same time to bring about a saving in administration costs.

"This," said Mr. Johnson, "is the first step in a program to place the administration of government services on a sound business basis."

"Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd. after completing their work in the motor license branch of the Attorney-General's department, will in all probability be asked to undertake similar studies in other departments," Mr. Johnson continued.

Decision to employ efficiency experts to study government departments was reached when it was considered that the rise in estimates in the motor license branch required careful review, the statement continued.

Both Mr. Johnson and Mr. Wisner are hopeful that a decided improvement will result from the study now to be conducted and that it will be possible to institute a substantial saving of government funds.

Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd. is an engineering consulting firm in the general field of management. Services include counseling in all phases of organization, administration, personnel relations, personnel selection and placing, finance control, office layout, practices and procedures.

The company is controlled and staffed by Canadians and has offices in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver. It is headed by Paul Kellogg and Charles R. Stevenson.

Mr. Kellogg is well known in Canadian management circles and is the president of Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd. Mr. Stevenson is president of Stevenson, Jordan and Harrison Inc. of New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, London, Eng., and Glasgow, Scotland. The firm Mr. Stevenson heads is one of the world's oldest and most reputable firms of management engineers.

Entire Facilities Available

The announcement by Mr. Johnson and Mr. Wisner said that the entire facilities of these combined organizations would be available to the government.

Almost all the branches of the provincial government's service have expanded considerably since the end of the war.

Some of this expansion has resulted from the government's embarking on new services, including hospital insurance and sales tax. There seems also to have been a general expansion of the staffs of almost all government departments at the same time.

During recent sessions of the Legislature private members have urged that the government take steps to assure that this expansion has been conducted efficiently.

MISQUOTES AND MISTAKES

ONE OF THE REWARDS—and I use the word advisedly—of writing a column of this kind is the response it brings from readers in the way of constructive criticism and analysis. It helps to keep you on your toes and at the same time preserve your balance.

That's why I welcomed a couple of letters which came to me recently from two faithful readers whom I count among my old friends, both gently taking me to task for errors which had crept in to the column—and to which I cheerfully admit.

One called my attention to a slip I made in locating Duke University in Durham, New Hampshire, when, of course, it is in North Carolina. As he puts it, my mistake would not be appreciated by the "tar heels of North Carolina." So, my apologies not only to him but to any "tar heels" who may be around here!

BALMY SLEEP

MY OTHER correspondent's reference was to the lines concerning sleep which I used apropos of a complaint made to the City Council concerning night noises made in some local construction work. I quoted these as "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep... sleep that knits up the ravelled sieve of care," and attributed them to Shakespeare.

His letter reads, in part: "Great Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep" is from Young's Night Thoughts, not Shakespeare. The balance of your quotation is correct. (It is from) Shakespeare's Macbeth."

MUDDLED MEMORY

I CHEERFULLY acknowledge the soft impeachment—which, alas, comes as another reminder that the years are beginning to take the keen edge off my memory! It also comes as a warning to me to verify my quotations before using them.

And, in that connection, I cannot resist a gentle dig at my old friend who, in correcting me, also did a little misquoting. For Young's lines begin as I wrote them, with the words "Tired Nature's sweet restorer"—and not "Great Nature's..."

EMERSON STORY

THIS incident recalls to my peculiar memory the controversy that raged over the oft-quoted line: "If you... build a better mousetrap than your neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to your door," so often attributed to Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The newspaper discussion revealed that the line was not to be found in Emerson's later works. But it also brought out that the "mousetrap" adaptation was written by Elbert Hubbard as an advertising slogan for a New York shoe store and a reporting system, and attributed by him to Emerson to give it "specific gravity."

MOUSETRAP MORAL

ODDLY enough, the mistake in quotation still persists, even though the Emerson Journals, edited by relatives of the well-known American writer, subsequently credited him with the original lines as follows:

"If a man has good corn, or wood, or pigs to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crucibles, or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad, hard-beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods."

However, although the Emerson story shows that I am not alone in my failing, I feel that I haven't yet quite reached the depths—or should it be heights?—of misquotation reached by a once well-known aldermanic aspirant of London, Ont., whose speeches were gems. His most famous platform utterance was: "As Shakespeare says in Paradise Lost, 'A man's a man for a' that.'"

Victorian Meets Touring Brother, Edinburgh Provost

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sir Andrew Murray, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, arrived here early today by plane from eastern Canada on another leg of his North American tour. He was met at the port by a brother, Maj. D. A. M. Murray of Victoria, B.C.

Maj. Murray arrived from the Pacific coast by plane only four hours before his brother. A store executive who left Edinburgh for Canada in 1925, he said it was 2½ years since he had last seen his brother.

"That time he flew all the way out to Victoria to see me," he added.

Sir Andrew, one of the founders of the Edinburgh Musical Festival, will attend an official civic luncheon in his honor tomorrow. A banquet also will be held tonight, tendered by four Scottish societies—the St. Andrew's Society, the Sons of Scotland, the Caledonians, and the United Scottish Association.

Western Mustangs Display Spirit In College Grid Win

TORONTO (CP)—Injury-battered but determined squad of University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday fought their way to the intercollegiate football title with a 12 to 9 playoff victory over McGill Redmen.

The underdog Mustangs—they were on the tail-end of 3 to 2 odds—came up with a terrific display of blocking, plunging and passing to recapture the title they relinquished last year to the University of Toronto Blues after holding it since 1939.

Western overcame what looked like an insurmountable array of obstacles before a Varsity Stadium crowd of 18,000.

Mustangs stacked a spirit that wouldn't be beaten. They scored one touchdown in the first half, in which they had an edge in play. A lightning-like thrust gave them another to put them ahead, 12 to 6, on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Then, backed to the wall almost the entire final quarter, the Mustangs beat back a fighting McGill team that at times seemed sure to overpower them.

Spearheaded by big Pete Robinson, a 20-year-old running halfback, Coach Vic Obeck's Redmen made a desperate move for victory. Three times they charged their way into scoring position—three times the tough western line held them.

KAMLOOPS WINS

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Staging a third-period drive that left some 2,000 fans limp, Kamloops Elks outscored Vernon Canadians 3 to 1 Saturday to take a 6 to 4 win in a Mainline Okanagan Amateur Hockey League game. The win put Elks into a second-place tie with Kelowna Packers.

Vernon Canadians lead the league with 17 points, two more than the Elks and Packers.

Link French Envoy's Arrest In Poland With Purge Of Reds

WARSAW (UP)—One French diplomat faced trial and two others were under expulsion orders today in what the Communist Government said was an espionage plot.

The plot centred around the French embassy and French consulates in Poland, the government said.

Andre Simon Robineau, assistant attache at the French Consulate at Szczecin, formerly Stettin, was arrested Friday as he was about to board a plane at Warsaw for Paris on a month's leave.

The Polish Government said in a note to the French Government Sunday that Robineau had confessed "his espionage activities" and would be tried with an undisclosed number of Polish co-defendants by a Polish court.

Also implicated in the plot, the note said, were Aymar de Bresin de Mere and Fernand Reaux of the French Embassy in Warsaw. They have been given three days to get out of Poland, the note said.

The note said the two Warsaw Embassy employees had been linked to the plot by Robineau and by other persons involved. It said employees of the French consulate at Wroclaw arrested five months ago on espionage charges also will be tried.

Mount McKinley, the highest point in North America, was first topped by mountaineers in 1913.

Commons Gets Report Of Supreme Court Judge On Tragic Fire Aboard Noronic

OTTAWA (CP)—Commons members today were presented with the report of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock on his inquiry into the tragic fire aboard the Canada Steamship Lines' cruise ship Noronic Sept. 13, when 111 persons were identified as dead and seven others missing.

The Supreme Court judge said he had been appointed a commissioner by the department to answer 20 specific questions dealing with the fire, which broke out in the early morning hours as the 36-year-old ship lay at a pier during a Great Lakes cruise that had started at Detroit.

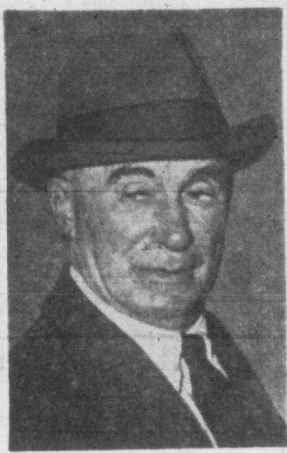

All but one of the dead aboard the veteran $5,000,000 craft were United States residents enjoying a post-season cruise. Most of them having been trapped in their bunks, identified dead total 111 and seven persons are known missing. Unidentified remains assumed to comprise eight bodies now are believed to be seven.

The remainder of the 527 passengers and the 16 crew members aboard the ship at the time of the outbreak—including the captain—escaped.

ACTIONS OF CREW

While critical of the actions of the master after the fire had broken out, Commissioner Kellock said the actions of the ordinary crew members were no doubt what they would be expected to do in such circumstances.

This was in the light of the fact that no officer had taken charge of the situation or had attempted to give any general directions, "if such was possible at the advanced stage which the fire had reached when the alarm was given."

After the alarm was given, the judge said, "the only thing it might have been possible to do, which was not done, was for the master to have taken general charge of the situation and directed in an organized way the arousing of passengers, instead of acting himself as an ordinary seaman in such parts of the ship as he could reach."

The investigator found that the fire broke out in a small linen closet just forward of a women's washroom opening onto the port corridor on C deck, third deck down from the top of the vessel.

While Mr. Justice Kellock gave no finding on the actual cause of the fire, he declared there was no evidence of incendiarism. His ruling on the responsibility for the loss of the ship and the lives was that the company and captain failed in:

1. Failing to have a continuous patrol of the ship to detect fire. He added "such patrol as was in existence" was limited to about 15 minutes of each hour.
2. Failing to have an organization in operation, while the ship was docked with passengers, to transmit word of a fire outbreak, to some point where trained fire fighters could be dispatched immediately.

3. Failing to "contemplate in any real sense" the possibility of fire at a dock and maintaining only 15 men on duty out of a crew complement of 171.

4. Failing to "have any plan for arousing and getting the passengers off the ship in the event of fire while the ship was at dock."

5. Failing to train the crew in the proper steps to be taken on discovery of fire or in fire-fighting methods, beyond giving them a knowledge of how to operate fire extinguishers as hoses.

FIVE DEFAULTS

The commissioner said the loss was due to "wrongful default" of the owners and the 66-year-old master in these five particulars.

"While it is true that the owners knew and approved of the organization or lack of it designed to deal with the outbreak of fire on the ship while it lay in dock with sleeping passengers aboard, the master was not in any way precluded by any instructions from the owners from taking the proper steps himself," Mr. Justice Kellock added.

In taxing costs against the owners, he added:

"I cannot think that any reasonable person, charged with the safety of sleeping passengers, could have failed to realize that something in the nature of what actually happened would be likely to happen on the ship here in question on the night of Sept. 16, 1949, had he really applied his mind to such a situation."

The judge said he was not interfering with the certificates of either First Officer F. Gerald Wood of St. Thomas Ont., or Second Officer Wilbur J. Bowles of Dorchester, Ont.

He declared "they should have had a direction from higher up, which they did not receive, although the second officer, who was the officer of the watch, showed no more resource nor initiative than did the master."

Mr. Justice Kellock found that the fire-fighting equipment on the vessel apparently was satisfactory and in good working order.

However, he recommended that provisions for fire-resistant bulkheads should be made applicable to such ships as the Noronic, as provided in the international convention for the safety of life at sea.

The Noronic had been exempted from regulations requiring new ships to have fire-resistant bulkheads, since she was built before the regulations came into effect.

ADVOCATES MEASURES

Other recommendations for ships "carrying more than a minimum of passengers in major inland waters:

1. That an efficient and continuous fire patrol be maintained, as well as an automatic fire alarm or fire detecting system. These systems should not be restricted to those parts of the ship not accessible to the patrols.
2. That safety-convention provisions be complied with in connection with the mustering of passengers, extinguishing of fires, warning of passengers and controlling the movement of passengers after an outbreak. This would require crew training in fire-fighting and the maintenance of an effective organization for sending trained men to the spot of a fire.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM

3. That these vessels be fitted with a sprinkler system protecting all enclosed spaces.
4. That muster charts—which show emergency stations for passengers and crew—should be prominently displayed so crew members may become familiar with their duties.
5. That the ships be fitted with public address systems for directing passengers in emergency and that officers be trained in their use.
6. That ships at dock should have "adequate" and more than one means of getting ashore.
7. That passenger ships remaining docked for any extended time be required to be connected with the local telephone system so that fire department aid may be obtained without delay.

Elects Trial

Howard Woolcock, charged with obtaining $75 by passing a worthless cheque, elected in city police court today to be tried by Magistrate Henry C. Hall. He was represented by James Proudfoot.

No plea was entered in the case and the magistrate ordered a remand until Thursday.

Noronic Captain Retains Status With Employers

MONTREAL (BUP)—Capt. William Taylor's status with Canada Steamship Lines was unaltered and he would be given another command when his suspension was lifted, company officials said today.

However, they said the 66-year-old master was a very ill man and there appeared little chance of his returning to duty.

The C.S.L. officials said Taylor would have had two more seasons on the Great Lakes before retiring. They denied the master was on his last voyage when the fire broke out.

TO GET PENSION

"As far as the company is concerned Captain Taylor's status remains unchanged. He will receive his pension when he reaches the retiring age of 68," they stated.

They asked whether the master would be allowed to take command of another of the C.S.L. ships in the event of him regaining his health, the officials answered emphatically: "Definitely, once his suspension is lifted."

Youth Pleads Guilty To Possessing Beer

William G. Morgan, aged 19, 2723 Mount Stephen Avenue, pleaded guilty in city police court today to being a minor and having in his possession in a public place an intoxicating beverage.

Morgan was found in an alleyway by the Atlas Theatre, drinking beer with two other persons. He ran when accosted by a police officer but was caught on Johnson Street when the constable gave chase.

According to police, the beer was bought through a government liquor store.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall remanded the youth for sentence, pending a probation officer report.

$300 Vehicle Damage In Morning Accident

About $300 damage was done to two vehicles in collision this morning at Cormorant and Douglas Streets. Police said the drivers were Carlos Bellagetto, 71 Montreal Street, proceeding east on Cormorant, and John E. Sales, 2705 Heron Street, travelling north on Douglas. About $225 damage was done to the Bellagetto vehicle. No one was injured.

Trial Date Set

Thomas A. McNaughton, charged by police with receiving stolen goods, will be tried before Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court Monday of next week.

McNaughton elected trial by magistrate through his counsel, J. McKenna, when brought before Magistrate Henry C. Hall in court today.

General Motors' Oshawa Plant To Resume Tuesday

OSHAWA, Ont. (BUP)—Officials of the General Motors Corporation, strikebound three weeks ago following a speed-up order, said today their assembly lines would resume full production Tuesday.

Members of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers' Union voted Saturday to end the walkout of some 5,500 G.M. employees and to accept a compromise settlement formula.

The first shift to enter the plant gates in 21 days went to work Sunday night to stoke cooled furnaces and get things ready for full-scale operations tomorrow.

Damage Of $15,000 In Fire On Tugboat

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Damage was estimated at $15,000 today in Sunday's fire which partially destroyed the 132-foot tugboat Active at a North Vancouver wharf.

The galley of the Active was gutted and extensive damage was caused to its wiring and cabin.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Former Alderman To Seek Election To City Council

A ninth aldermanic candidate for the civic elections Dec. 8 appeared over the week-end.

Burgess J. Gadsden, a member of the city police commission who served 10 years as an alderman up to 1947 when he failed in an attempt at re-election, announced he will be a candidate for one of five two-year terms becoming vacant.

Mr. Gadsden has one year to serve of a two-year police commission term. He will not be required to relinquish this post if elected an alderman.

A staunch supporter of the city manager plan and amalgamation of Greater Victoria municipalities, Mr. Gadsden was chairman of an intermunicipal committee of the councils for several years.

He said he was alarmed at the increasing rate of taxation in the city and the mounting rate of licensing the right to do business.

Milk Truck Bowled Over In Collision; Boy Is Injured

A "teen-age" boy sustained minor injuries in a Topaz Avenue and Blackwood Street collision shortly after 8 this morning in which a half-ton milk truck was bowled over on its roof and skidded for 50 feet. The streets intersect on a hill.

Milk and broken glass from the dozen crates on the truck were scattered about the street and side of the road. The boy was the only one hurt.

Constables James Baxter and J. Deans Blackstock, of the new city police traffic division investigating the scene, said the boy was a passenger in the milk truck, which was proceeding west on Topaz and driven by Leonard S. James, 3850 Saanich Road. It was in collision with a car driven by John R. Dawson, 2928 Blackwood, proceeding south on that street.

Constable Baxter rendered first aid to the boy before he was taken to Jubilee Hospital by Constable A. Wilson and A. Newcome.

The truck, which was considerably damaged, stopped in its roof skid about 125 feet from the intersection.

Mental Health Services Aided

OTTAWA (CP)—Mental health services in Saskatchewan have been given a boost with grants from the federal government.

The health department announced today that federal funds have been allotted to pay the salary of an additional social worker for the Regina mental health clinic, and for two nurses for the Munroe wing of the Regina General Hospital.

Federal bursaries have been approved for Richard Schneider, Regina; Melba Richardson, North Battleford, and Mary Melville, Weyburn.

Leonard Holmes, 647 Fort Street, was fined $15 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today of having violated a 40 m.p.h. speed limit restriction set down on his driver's license.

Armed Bandits Beat Vancouver Man With Hose

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hold-up men here struck twice within a few hours during the week-end, robbing a city night club operator in his home and taking an undetermined amount of money from a gasoline service station attendant.

Sandy DeSantis, proprietor of the Palomar Supper Club, told police he returned home with his wife about 5 a.m. today and found four masked men in his home.

The men pounced on the couple. DeSantis said, tying them with adhesive tape and two stockings. One of them then beat DeSantis with a piece of rubber hose, forcing him to tell where his money was hidden in the house.

They did not leave until they had obtained $540 in cash and a valuable ladies' diamond ring. DeSantis said the men were armed.

ASKED FOR CHANGE

George Prosser, gasoline service station attendant, was the other holdup victim. He said two men entered the service station and asked him to change a $10 bill.

When he said he did not have the change, one of the men produced a revolver. He opened the cash register and took $80, six automobile rental contracts and the deposits for six rented cars.

EDMONTON (CP)—British American Oil Co. at the week-end announced plans to build an oil refinery at Edmonton which will employ 100 persons and will have an initial capacity of 2,000,000 barrels a year.

The announcement was made by M. S. Becinger, vice-president for manufacturing, through R. H. C. Harrison of Calgary, counsel for the company in Western Canada.

Construction will be started early next spring, four miles east of Edmonton on the south side of the North Saskatchewan River.

Imperial Oil Limited now has the only refinery in Edmonton with a capacity of 21,000 barrels of oil daily—largest in Western Canada. McColl Frontenac Oil Co. Ltd. has announced it will build a $10,000,000 refinery starting next spring.

No estimate was given of the cost of the British American refinery.

British Warships Move To Hongkong

SINGAPORE (Reuter)—Six British warships will leave Singapore for Hongkong within the next three weeks, making the newest force there the strongest since the Second World War ended, a Royal Navy spokesman announced at the week-end.

He termed the sailings "purely routine," but Singapore shipping circles believed the movements were connected with Foreign Secretary Bevin's recent statement that British merchantmen outside Chinese territorial waters would be protected from Nationalist shelling and bombing.

Sanity Test For Youth Who Planned To Kill Saboteur

PLAINVILLE, Mass. (UP)—Sanity tests were ordered today for a Brown University freshman who had hoped to enlist the unwitting aid of Canada's Prime Minister in a fantastic scheme to avenge his father's death.

Patrick J. Parker, 23, of Rye, N.Y., was sent to the Foxboro State (Mental) Hospital for 10 days' observation after a sorrowful reunion in a courtroom with his widowed mother and older brother, Michael, 20, a Yale senior.

Parker was arrested Saturday night, 20 minutes after he had allegedly held up a liquor store and obtained $55.60—the cash needed for a round-trip plane ride to Quebec.

There, he said, he hoped to slay jeweler Albert Guay, who allegedly had a time-bomb secreted in a plane which blew up Sept. 9, killing 23 persons, including the jeweler's wife and Parker's father.

After a 20-minute conference in chambers with Walpole District Judge Herbert D. Robinson, Parker pleaded innocent at a private hearing to charges of armed robbery and gun carrying. The judge ordered him held in $12,000 bail pending the outcome of mental tests.

The name of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada was injected into the case by a police official who said the Canadian leader was a close friend of the Parker family. He said a man identifying himself as St. Laurent had telephoned Sunday night to get information concerning young Parker's case.

Parker's father was R. J. Parker, vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Co. and president of the Quebec Iron & Tantalum Co.

Veeck Sells Cleveland Club For $2,200,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dynamic Bill Veeck sold Cleveland Indians to a group of local businessmen today for a reported $2,200,000.

The Tribe president announced the long-awaited action at a press conference.

Ellis Ryan, insurance executive, is head of the new group that has been dickered with Veeck for weeks to buy the American League baseball club and its holdings.

The reported purchase price contrasted with the estimated figure of $1,250,000 Veeck and others paid for the tribe, its 13 farm clubs and old league park on June 22, 1946.

Ryan said the figure of $2,200,000 was approximately correct.

NO MANAGER YET

Asked whether Hank Greenberg, who had been vice-president of the baseball organization in the Veeck regime, would become manager, Ryan replied "We haven't talked to anyone yet."

Shortly before the transaction was completed, a stockholder in the Cleveland Baseball Company, which Veeck headed, sued Veeck for $1,200,000 damages, in behalf of all the stockholders.

J. H. Harris a former county commissioner, filed the suit in common pleas court asking the damages from Veeck, and an accounting of the company's funds.

The petition claimed Veeck had bought stock for himself in the Oklahoma City, Dayton, O., and Zanesville, O., clubs on $175,000 he borrowed without authority from the company. It also claimed he had borrowed $250,000 from the company about Nov. 1 without proper corporate authority.

Veeck said he had no comment on the suit.

Just where the sale would leave Veeck, now 35, was not cleared.

All he would say was: "I want to get married. I want to take a good long rest. After that—believe me, I haven't the faintest idea what comes after that."

cluding the jeweler's wife and Parker's father.

After a 20-minute conference in chambers with Walpole District Judge Herbert D. Robinson, Parker pleaded innocent at a private hearing to charges of armed robbery and gun carrying. The judge ordered him held in $12,000 bail pending the outcome of mental tests.

The name of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada was injected into the case by a police official who said the Canadian leader was a close friend of the Parker family. He said a man identifying himself as St. Laurent had telephoned Sunday night to get information concerning young Parker's case.

Parker's father was R. J. Parker, vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Co. and president of the Quebec Iron & Tantalum Co.

Shortly before the transaction was completed, a stockholder in the Cleveland Baseball Company, which Veeck headed, sued Veeck for $1,200,000 damages, in behalf of all the stockholders.

J. H. Harris a former county commissioner, filed the suit in common pleas court asking the damages from Veeck, and an accounting of the company's funds.

The petition claimed Veeck had bought stock for himself in the Oklahoma City, Dayton, O., and Zanesville, O., clubs on $175,000 he borrowed without authority from the company. It also claimed he had borrowed $250,000 from the company about Nov. 1 without proper corporate authority.

Veeck said he had no comment on the suit.

Just where the sale would leave Veeck, now 35, was not cleared.

All he would say was: "I want to get married. I want to take a good long rest. After that—believe me, I haven't the faintest idea what comes after that."

A CHANCE TO BE HEARD

IN RECENT YEARS THE PUBLIC MEETING, as a means of giving civic election candidates an opportunity to present their cases and of providing the citizens with an opportunity to question those who are aspiring for office, has fallen into disuse. Public apathy robbed it of its value. Even before the recent war, attendance at such gatherings was so small that benefits were virtually limited to the newspaper space reporters gave aspirants for office in their accounts. The technique generally adopted has been that of display advertising and radio. Both serve a useful function.

It appears, however, that interest in civic government has now been revived to a point at which the public meeting would again meet an obvious need. Our citizens, if they have any respect for their citizenship, should be—and, we think, are—prepared to use the necessary amount of energy to go to a convenient place of assembly to hear the platforms of those who seek their votes, and to satisfy themselves on various issues which may not be defined unless questions are asked.

Community consciousness, we suggest, is strong enough to encourage such agencies as Parent-Teacher groups to sponsor meetings in their respective districts. That was a practice followed in earlier years—and a good one. Such meetings have many advantages. They would furnish a means whereby each candidate could present his or her case without being subject to the financial limitations imposed by commercial publicity media. They would provide a debating ground and a forum in which the householder or home owner could ask for and get the information desired on specific issues. And they would help to stimulate interest among citizens in a manner which could be expected to reflect itself in a better and wider use of the ballot.

The facilities of the community group would, moreover, be even better than the use of the large, downtown auditorium. Family heads and others enjoying the franchise would be put to little inconvenience to attend a meeting in their own locality. Admittedly a schedule of the nature proposed might necessitate a larger expenditure of energy by candidates. But aspirants for office should be prepared to make the extra efforts required in order to familiarize as many of the people as possible with their objectives and the means by which they hope to reach them.

On too many occasions in the last few years it has been necessary to draw public attention to the inertia shown in respect to civic affairs by the small vote cast on election day. Such disinterest permits a vital democratic right to languish. Whatever can be done to overcome this lethargy toward the government that is closest to the people should be done. The public meeting could be an important factor in reviving a healthy civic consciousness.

READY FOR THE JOB

THE REDISTRIBUTION OF THE FUNCTIONS of the Department of Mines and Resources and the Department of Reconstruction and Supply, and the creation of one entirely new portfolio indicate quite clearly the phase of development into which Canada has passed. According to Prime Minister St. Laurent's announcement, it is proposed to appoint a Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys, and a Minister of Resources and Development. A new departure will be the establishment of a Department of Citizenship and Immigration. The names themselves indicate the new avenues to be penetrated—the assimilation of the great influx of British and continental immigrants that has marked the post-war years, the encouragement of the great northlands and their natural resources as well as of prospective riches nearer at hand. These are the concerns of a country that is still young, whose assets and possibilities are still in the unfolding stage, whose capacity for sustaining a greater population has not yet been approached. That the government has recognized the situation and acted will be noted with approval by Canadians in general.

INFLUENCING THE PARENT

ALTHOUGH SOCIAL WORKER MISS PHYLLIS BURNS, of Halifax and Ottawa, takes an attitude differing from that of many of our citizens when she says that a mountain is being made out of a molehill in the matter of crime comics in Canada, there is some point to her supporting argument. Her contention is that children turn to this medium—one which comes within their income bracket—for adventure stories and that their blood-thirsty content is no worse than the works of some respected and responsible writers who have become famous. There is merit too, in her statement that the effects of such material are "not as great as some people like to paint them—the majority of children outgrow these publications with no ill effects."

Miss Burns' concession that the more lurid type were "not doing our children any good," does, on the other hand, emphasize the point which has been made on such publications. Every child who reads them is obviously not going to become a delinquent. And delinquency will occur long after the flood of such material has receded. At the same time, if they are severely injurious to some of our children, it would be advisable to discourage their production and circulation.

If a mountain has been erected from a molehill, however, it has had one desirable result. It has drawn emphatically to the attention of parents the type of reading material on which too many children have spent too much time. That, in itself, has justified the campaign. Since primary responsibility for the reading habits of the young rests with their elders, the publicity which has been given to the trash that has been flooding the juvenile market should have underscored for adults the need for action in the home. The obvious practical outcome should be—and has been in many cases—the provision of a higher class of book to engage the interests of the child. That, even more than suppression, should yield results.

'A GRAND THING'

ALTHOUGH DETAILS OF ITS APPLICATION must await further announcement, probably within the next day or two, the new federal proposal for assisting home building has been described by Premier Byron Johnson as "a grand thing." The enactment is now being completed by the House of Commons and will require supporting legislation by each province which wishes to participate in the program. It is known, however, that the burden of home-building will be shared by the Dominion authority on the one hand and provincial and municipal governments on the other, on a 75-25 basis. The new plan is understood to supersede previous veterans' and other building arrangements, and is expected to result in a great encouragement of house construction in every area where it is implemented. The present year has been the first post-war period to show any progress in overcoming the backlog of needed home building while still keeping abreast of new requirements. Next year, as has been intimated in the Commons, progress should be even greater.

In this respect, it is well to remember the part that home ownership plays in building a stable national consciousness. The man who owns his own home may be expected to take a greater interest in the affairs of his community, to participate more readily in local activities, and to retain a more responsible attitude in regard to economic and social affairs than one whose assets are not thus solidly invested. But even in cases where rented accommodation is used, the family in decent surroundings is likely to feel a greater appreciation of, and kinship with, the community than if it were housed in an unsuitable, temporary dwelling. The housing plan therefore strikes far more deeply into current problems than is represented by the mere provision of places in which the people may live. "We are especially interested in it," said Mr. Johnson, "because we have a real housing problem out here which this plan should solve." That raises promising prospects, and we shall await with interest the development of the proposal.

KEEP IT FREE

THE ADVENT OF FACSIMILE BROADCASTING, now recognized as a practical development far beyond the experimental stage, raises a new problem regarding freedom of the press in this country. Briefly, the new process is a means by which news and other material may be broadcast from a central station to receiving sets in private homes and reproduced in typed or printed form. The vast mechanics of newspaper publication are thus eliminated, with radio waves providing a direct route from editorial desk to reader's living-room. It is not suggested, of course, that facsimile broadcasting will replace newspapers soon, or even in the foreseeable future, but the medium will grow, and ultimately find an important place in our daily affairs.

The point that has been raised by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, however, is that such broadcasting now appears slated to come under the control of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, as has radio and television. The organization points out, in a brief to the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences, that facsimile represents a different field from that of the other two broadcasting methods, in that it is concerned solely with the distribution of news such as is now carried on by newspapers. Since supervision by the government, or an agency of the government, of news publishing in this country would represent an unthinkable infringement of freedom of the press, similar control of facsimile would be equally execrable.

In other words, the development and use of the novel news medium must remain in private hands, free from any state control other than that required to maintain adherence to technical regulations governing such points as wavelengths. It is a matter which Canadians would do well to watch as the new device progresses. Bureaucratic control of such a news medium should be opposed by every citizen who believes in our system of democracy.

NOTES

The rugged pioneer spirit has not completely vanished. Just look at those who watch football games in flu-perfect weather.

"The time may come when a single purchase of atomic fuel will last you for a life time." Most of us would like to warm up to such an idea.

Lord Mayor's Show

By A. K. ASTBURY from London

IT WOULD BE difficult to imagine Britain in peace-time without those two colorful events, the Lord Mayor's Show, and Guy Fawkes Day, which are observed each year in November.

Guy Fawkes Day has become essentially a children's day, on which the whole countryside is lit up with bonfires and fireworks. Originally these pyrotechnics served to remind Britain of the malefactions of a certain Guy Fawkes and four conspirators who, in 1605, tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament with gunpowder. Nowadays the anniversary of the plot's discovery—November 5—is used as an excuse for a lot of fun and fireworks. This year more bonfires than ever seemed to be blazing, and the streets of London were full, as usual, with little boys and girls carrying effigies of Guy.

GUY FAWKES DAY, in spite of its enormous popularity, is of comparatively recent growth. The Lord Mayor's Show is over twice as old. Guy Fawkes Day celebrations are nearly always much the same, but the tableaux in the Lord Mayor's Show change each year.

The first time I saw the procession was in 1919, or thereabouts, and I can well remember one of the features of the procession was a lorry on which women were filling artillery shells. This year the central feature arranged (apart from the Lord Mayor) was a series of tableaux, "Transport through the Ages." The first was to show human transport, from the hand-sledge to the bicycle; in the second were to be as fine a selection of horses as have passed down the Strand or Fleet Street for many a long day. There was a stage coach, an eight-horsed stage wagon, hansom cabs, and even horse buses in the line of vehicles.

FOR THE WINTER tableau two Welsh river fishermen came specially to London with their coracles to appear with a Thames river police launch manned by river police. (Coracles are the oldest type of boat in Britain, made of wattle coated with pitch. Julius Caesar described them 2,000 years ago.) Veteran cars were in the program, and some of the latest examples of military transport.

The Lord Mayor's coach, specially redecorated for this year's Show, was to have its customary escort of Household Cavalry, with 18 bands and detachments from those regiments which have the privilege (not accorded to many regiments in the British Army) of marching through the city with colors flying, drums beating and bayonets fixed. It is a great day for London when the new Lord Mayor goes in procession, and one which no visitor to the capital should miss.

BUT IT IS GOODBYE to summer for sure when the Lord Mayor's Show is held. And yet even as I write, in late autumn, there is still a feeling of summer in the air. Perhaps it is partly due to the fact that I have been stimulated by a conversation I have just had with the man whose job it is to help arrange holiday work for students. This year 4,000 United Kingdom and 1,200 overseas students have been working in farm camps in Britain—Canadian, American, French, Belgian, Swedish, Dutch, and many other nationalities have been represented. One student from Iceland actually worked his passage to Britain for the second year in succession to work here in a farming camp.

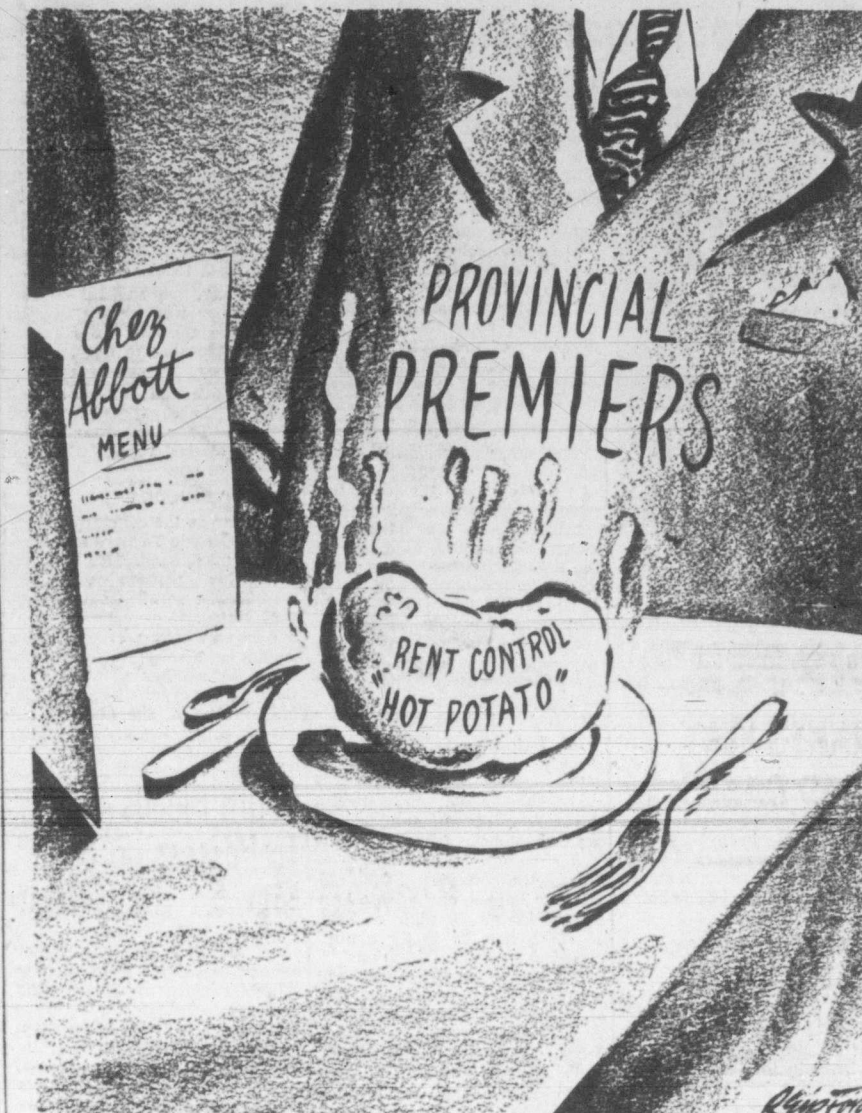

BUT WHAT caught my fancy most of all were some of the extraordinary jobs other students have taken on. One has been looking after mice at the Marie Curie hospital in north London. Another has been off the northwest coast of Scotland—catching sharks. One student dug graves, another spent weeks washing the chronically ill in a west of England hospital. They have worked as laundry hands, bartenders and laborers; they have worked as tram conductors, fish cleaners and bath attendants. They have done farm and construction work in Finland, Norway, Yugoslavia, Sweden, Holland and Israel. And many of them, their summer jobs over, are now looking forward to Christmas, when many of them are already booked to work as salesmen and saleswomen, porters, and post office workers.

But students do almost as much unpaid work of all kinds—building playgrounds for children in the big cities and running voluntary social service schemes, for example—thus contributing in many ways to a new Britain and a new world.

ONE WAY IN WHICH that new world is being built before our eyes came to my notice recently when I visited what one London newspaper has called "Britain's happiest village"—the village recently built in the heart of Windsor Great Park near the Royal Palace of Windsor Castle to accommodate 120 people. Before its construction many of the men had to cycle long distances to their work on the Royal farms and in the forests and gardens. Now, for a rent of 6s. 6d. a week each family lives in a house of simple modern design approved by King George VI himself. The houses are in pairs along two sides of a triangle enclosing a spacious, tree-dotted green; and on the third side is a social club for the tenants. One, formerly a miner, is now a tractor driver on the King's estate. His house, painted cream throughout, has a kitchen with built-in cupboards, electric cooker, power points, and all the latest labor-saving devices, such as are installed in prefabricated and permanent brick houses put up under official housing schemes. There is a general store and post office in the village too, with the Royal cipher on the wall above the door.

I'm a lovable character, about as vicious as Margaret O'Brien—Humphrey Bogart.

Berlin Emerges From The Ruins

By GAULT MACGOWAN, N.A.N.A., from Berlin

WEST BERLIN after dark has become a miniature Great White Way. Brilliantly lit, modernistic shop fronts with windows filled with artistically displayed German and foreign goods almost recall Manhattan.

Only by day can you see the shaggy ruins of the upper floors and the skyline of crags that once were apartments or busy offices.

ONLY A FACADE
But Kurfurstendamm glitter by night is a facade. The gay cabaret life which was a feature of the postwar era when everybody had reichsmarks to burn is over. Night clubs and bars are half empty. Only on Saturday nights can you find haunts of revelry.

For the rest of the week, they are dull and lifeless. People are short of money and still ill-shod. They stay at home and save shoe-leather.

Keynote of the people's mood

For entertainment is the surge to see "Harnet." This immortal tragedy is drawing full houses. By day, the tragedy of bomb warfare is revealed in all its horror—like a preview of atomic chaos. Taxi drivers live in a world of illusion. They point out famous buildings of the past—almost as if the ruins were upright and still functioning.

Berlin boulevards—if you can call them that—are dotted with massed stands of flowers at every corner. Berliners love flowers and buy them. Dotted between the flower stalls are booths filled with great baskets of fruit and vegetables.

EAST ZONE
Where does all this market produce come from to the insularized city? It comes in daily from the Russian zone, a stallholder told me. East Zone peasants are so anxious to get west-marks that they rush all the best produce they can into the city to make a quick sale. For vegetarians, the city would be a paradise just now. But Berliners are meat-eaters. They hunger for their old-time dishes—and meat and fat are strictly rationed. Germans say if you don't cook vegetables in fat, you don't get that feeling of fullness after meals!

Rebuilding is proceeding fast now. With a Berliner, I stood in a street and he pointed out a Catholic chapel. "A few months ago," he said, "few people remembered that chapel was there. Now it has been untombed. Soon it will be a place of worship again."

REAL PEOPLE
Only now—as years of work on clearing ruins begins to show results—does one realize what a well-laid-out city it was. Since the blockade was lifted, the wide avenues and broad thoroughfares have come to life; with real people, not ghosts.

They Will Run The Churches

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

THE ARDENT friends of peace and Russia, two forces that they insist on grouping together, are people of unquestioned character—if any character can be unquestioned that is deaf to all arguments and evidence that does not fit set opinions.

MUST ADJUST

We wonder, for instance, how the Rev. James Endicott, newly back from another campaign to foster Christian co-operation with the Soviet, or the Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Red Dean of Canterbury newly back from a good-will visit to Moscow, will adjust their thinking to Communism's actions in Czechoslovakia.

Will they be ready to admit that the church there will be better run by the minions of Moscow than it was by the men of God? That is the way it is to be run. Communism has taken over the Czech Church, its buildings, its administration, its resources. It has become a department of Klement Gottwald's Communist regime.

From now on Communist thought will control all church affairs, make appointments, pay priests and ministers, and determine their teaching.

Should they refuse to submit to direction—not of God, remember, but of Klement Gottwald, stooge of Moscow—they will be discharged to join the tens of thousands recently torn from their home and occupations and sent to work in the mines, without a hint of charge or trial.

HIGH PRICE

It looks as though the people who insist on friendship with Communism would have to do some adjusting of their loyalties to the King of Kings. We wonder whether good men will still continue to feel that what is bought justifies the price.

He Judges Adam's Ale

BBC-London Letter.

STANLEY BARWICK spends his whole day, and has done so for 25 years, in tasting waters, a job that would have driven G. K. Chesterton and other stalwart wine drinkers to distraction.

How can you taste water? What taste is there to the stuff? Surely the test of good water is that it should be tasteless?

Mr. Barwick answered these and many other questions in a BBC broadcast when he explained how he carried out his job as official water taster to London's Metropolitan Water Board. The water that Londoners drink comes from different rivers and wells and in Mr. Barwick's opinion the champagne of the board's supply is the water from the Kentish wells.

MANY TASTES

Apart from his Kentish champagne, Mr. Barwick in his time has tasted reservoir water that has smacked of geraniums, or had more than a hint of decayed vegetables; some has been definitely fishy. All these differing flavors are removed after Mr. Barwick has taken a mouthful of the water, rolled it round his tongue and pronounced upon it.

He keeps his acute sense of taste by careful cultivation of his palate; no onions, tobacco or alcohol is his rule, and an apple before tasting begins to sharpen up the palate. His is so sharp that he can detect the faintest taste in water and the foreign bodies are then tracked to their source and taken away.

The bad taste is not always so immediately apparent as it was in the water he tasted in a doctor's house, the doctor having complained that it was "funny." Mr. Barwick agreed that it was more than "funny"—it was awful. Not surprising, considering that there were several dead rats in the doctor's cistern.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, Britain's austere Chancellor of the Exchequer, advises the Church of England to stay out of politics.

Such a pronouncement by a cabinet minister would in all events be of great importance, but it takes on peculiar significance as coming from Sir Stafford. The Chancellor is widely known as a Christian who puts his beliefs into practice seven days a week. He is credited with applying his religion to his Socialist policies as well as to his personal life. Even his political opponents agree on that.

So when Sir Stafford takes the church to task, folks want to know what's cooking. Well, not only the Chancellor but the Labor Party has been greatly worried lately over speeches by prelates of the Church of England. The political leaders are wondering what part churchmen may play in the next general election which will determine whether the experiment in Socialism is to continue.

GATHERING SHADOW

For example, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, who is head of the Church of England, recently referred to the coming election as a "gathering shadow." He told the synod of the convocation of Canterbury that there was "need for united effort to overcome our economic plight." Other prelates have expressed concern over economic conditions.

Some political observers have expressed belief that the church leaders may be attempting to bring about a Coalition government. The Socialists have turned thumbs down on that.

In considering the position of the Church of England it must be noted that it is the established church, that is, a state church. Those members of the House of Lords in Parliament who are known as the "lords spiritual" are bishops and archbishops of the Church of England. The King himself is "defender of the faith."

It therefore is easy to see why there is a difference of opinion in Britain as to how far the church should become involved in political matters. It is doubly clear when one recalls that the clergy of the Church of England are, broadly speaking, Conservative and therefore are not in harmony with Socialism.

TEACHERS GAIN

Ottawa Citizen
Though in dispute recently with teachers on the salary issue, Prime Minister St. Laurent has taken two forward steps in educational policy. It has established a separate ministry of education and granted teachers up to 15 days' sick leave without loss of pay.

MILESTONE REACHED

Montreal Star
It is a happy conjunction of circumstances that has brought the issue of constitutional reform before the people when one of Canada's great constitutional lawyers is Prime Minister of Canada. Mr. St. Laurent, with sagacity and shrewdness, is leading us carefully toward changes that have been postponed without reason through the years.

OUR MUTUAL COLD

The Times of London
It is well known that there is strictly speaking no such thing as a mutual friend. The dictionary while admitting that the expression is used, stigmatizes it in a bracket as "improper." Therefore presumably we and our neighbor cannot have a mutual cold, but there is a temptation so to describe the first real cold of winter that is now flitting from house to house on germ-laden wings.

"I think I'm going to get it," says one member of the family. "I've an uncomfortable feeling at the back of my throat." "I expect you are," answers another in the most matter-of-fact tone in the world; "mine began just that way." Sometimes these prognostications are not fulfilled, but this, far from being a cause of congratulation, is regarded as evidence of a barefaced imposture. A man has no business to profess such symptoms and then after all to escape the plague. Almost the only thing to be said for the cold universal is that it promotes a certain gloomy team spirit. On other occasions each man thinks that his own cold has a certain unrestrained splendor of liquefaction not given to others, but now even the voice of jealousy is drowned by the general chorus of sniffles.

Heavy Seas Running When Haida Picked Up B-29 Men

ST. GEORGE'S, Bermuda (CP) — A 33-year-old veteran Canadian navy skipper late Sunday told how 18 exposure-ridden United States airmen were rescued from rising Atlantic seas 79 hours after their four-engine bomber had ditched in soupy weather.

Lt.-Cmdr. T.-G. Madgwick of the destroyer Haida berthed his 1,900-ton warship at the U.S. naval operations base here after a dash from a point 330 miles northeast of the island. The B-29 went into the sea early Wednesday while en route from March Field, Calif., to Britain.

Two of her crew died when the aircraft splintered in the water. The remaining 18—weak and chilled after tossing about the ocean in two rubber boats in water up to their knees—are in hospital here.

The Haida and other Canadian warships left Halifax Tuesday for a 21-day West Indies cruise. They were directed from their first port of call, Charleston, S.C., to aid in search operations. While the biggest air search armada in peacetime history combed the ocean, the vessels took up the hunt.

Lt.-Cmdr. Madgwick told reporters: "We were steaming fast but searched all day Friday without any luck. The Magnificent and the Swansea were with us. "Saturday morning, the seas are plenty high and heavy gales lifted the carrier's bow 30 to 40 feet in the air. While she rose and fell, bucking waves which crashed continuously over the flight deck, her aircraft kept flying.

"About 12:45 p.m. (E.S.T.) Saturday, all the planes but one were out on the carrier when the signal petty officer of the watch on the Haida sighted a B-29 of the Yank air force.

CANVAS BOAT DROPPED
"Shortly afterward it was seen circling. It was spotted dropping a parachute-equipped canvas boat and we increased to full speed.

"Then we sighted two small yellow life-rafts. One of the Haida's men managed to get into the canvas boat, in which the survivors then were, from the Haida's whaler.

"He was followed by others of the crew and they lugged the survivors up the scramble netting.

"The 18 men had lost the use of their legs... they were numb. As soon as we got them aboard the destroyer, they were rushed to the wardroom, stripped of their sodden clothing and wrapped in warm blankets. Then we put them to bed."

To Train Printers For Weekly Papers

REGINA (CP) — Education Minister W. S. Lloyd of Saskatchewan said his department will consider a plan to train students in the printing trades.

He made the announcement Saturday when a delegation from the provincial division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association told him the province's apprenticeship scheme is not suited to supply weekly newspapers with printers or to provide training for interested youths.

The delegation was composed of Walter Ashfield, editor of the Greenfield Sun; Gerald Humphrey, editor of the Nokomis Times and Gowan Prairie News, and Syd Stevens of the Shaunavon Standard.

The delegation proposed that boys of Grade 10 standing be given a few hours' training each week in country newspaper shops. At the end of two years the trainees would be fitted for apprenticeship and would be able to command higher wages than those starting in the trade with no practical knowledge.

The group said the plan eventually could become a valuable source of trained printers for both city and country shops.

U.S. Makes Self Heard In Russia With Books, Broadcasts, Magazine

Installment No. 14

Faced with the vast Soviet array of propaganda mechanisms, all designed to make the people of the world hate and mistrust America and the generosity of its postwar assistance programs, the U.S. government was confronted with the countermeasures it could adopt to tell its own positive story abroad.

"One grain of truth dropped into Russia is like a spark landing in a barrel of powder," de Cistine had written 110 years ago.

Every report by our observers throughout the Soviet Union stressed the same line, and it was this view that led the American Government to act in a far more positive way, in February, 1947, than it had ever attempted before in peacetime. Before that date, we had, of course, published the Russian-language, Life-like, slick-paper magazine Amerika, which had a recorded circulation of 50,000 but whose every word had been censored in advance by the Soviet Government, which also controlled the distribution inside the country. It was valuable, but it obviously had its shortcomings.

In time, we could hope that we would be able to reach the Soviets in many ways: through the circulation of American books, the showing of American films and systematic exchange of students and professional personnel, as well as through short-wave radio and wider distribution of the State Department's magazine Amerika. However, and despite extensive efforts on our part, we had been unable to make much progress in such fields as exchange of students or free circulation of American books and films. We intended to keep working in these fields, but future possibilities remained uncertain.

The need for a Russian-language broadcast through Voice of America facilities had been recognized both by the Moscow Embassy and the State Department long before it was begun. A great deal of preliminary planning was required, however, because of such problems as provision of a satisfactory radio relay point; collection of a staff that could voice and write modern, idiomatic Russian and still meet rigid security tests, and working out a program content that would get across to the Russians information about the United States and its policies in an interesting attention-holding fashion. In all the preliminary planning and preparation, the Embassy worked as closely as possible with the State Department in Washington. We all sought as detailed guidance as we could get from American and British experts on Russia, from experiences of British Broadcasting Corporation Russian language broadcasts, and from practices of Soviet domestic broadcasting systems.

The voice of America first spoke in Russian on Feb. 17, 1947. Several days before this, I officially notified the Soviet Foreign Office and wrote letters to the newspapers Pravda and Izvestia asking them to publish the date, time and wave length of our initial program. These letters were ignored. In the Embassy, arrangements were made for close monitoring of the broadcast and for obtaining as extensive reaction from Soviet listeners as possible. Detailed reports and criticisms were sent back to the department on all phases of the program.

Reception Poor

From the first, we were pleased with the language and voices and handling of the news. Reception, however, was poor; subject matter was not sufficiently light and entertaining; much of the music was bad for shortwave, and the pacing of the various parts of the program (news, technical features, light features, dance music and serious music) was off. These constructive criticisms were reported to the department with suggested changes.

As we had anticipated, once broadcasting had begun and an opportunity had been given to study it in actual operation, improvement was rapid and steady. The broadcasts quickly demonstrated their value as a means of getting into the Soviet Union full acts about American developments that were of immediate policy importance.

For example, it enabled us to give to the Soviet people President Truman's speech announcing our intention to give support to the Governments of Greece and Turkey. We received a report that Soviet engineers working at the Dnieper Dam were "amazed" at the President's speech and that they asked an American to make a check at the Embassy to find whether the President really made such a speech or if they had heard an underground station. They said they had not heard such things for 30 years.

A Russian connected with Radio Moscow, after having admitted that he had heard the President's speech and on being asked whether he had heard it plainly, stated with slow emphasis: "That speech was plenty plain." He made it clear that he was alluding to contents as well as reception.

For obvious reasons, the Embassy has never been able to make a systematic check of the extent to which our programs are heard by the Russians.

1,500,000 Possible Listeners
In May, 1947, I was able to tell members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, with reasonable assurance of accuracy, that there were probably more than half a million radio sets in the Soviet Union capable of receiving our broadcasts and that the number might exceed 1,500,000. Later, we became convinced that this was an underestimate. Subsequent articles in Pravda and Izvestia emphasized that in recent years "large plants have been built providing all necessary equipment for radio development," that "many broadcasting stations have been constructed" and that "a radio set has become the normal thing in every family." The article added that by 1950 the Soviet radio receiving network will have increased by 75 per cent as compared with before the war.

From bits of conversation here and there, members of the Embassy staff were able to piece together extensive indications that Voice of America programs were being heard not only in Moscow but also in a number of provincial areas. A Soviet executive from an industrial city near Moscow stated that he and many of his acquaintances listened regularly. A traveler in Byelorussia found that half of the persons he talked with on the train knew of the broadcasts; a farmer from the Caucasus discussed the program content in some detail with an American army officer whom he met on the street; a United States Naval representative at Odessa reported that in Odessa "our broadcasts are apparently now receivable and are being listened to by most Russians having seven-tube sets or better," visitors returning from Leningrad reported that the program was being listened to there just "as in Moscow."

'Voice' Denounced
Our first evidence of the impact of our broadcasts came on April 10, 1947, when Ilya Ehrenburg, an outstanding Soviet writer, noted for the bitterness of his attacks on America, denounced the Voice in the strongest terms in an article in the magazine Culture and Life. I wrote the State Department: "That a top-flight commentator like Ehrenburg should be assigned the job of lambasting our broadcasts is the most encouraging reaction we have seen. It shows that the program is on the right track. Our hearty congratulations."

Ten days later Mr. Ehrenburg renewed the attack. In a long article published in Culture and Life he again denounced the program, his central theme being that "it does not speak for the American people, but for American reactionaries." On April 30 the Soviet humor magazine Krokodil paid us the compliment of a featured cartoon attacking the broadcasts.

For a while we welcomed these attacks. They gave us free advertising and expanded our audience.

It may have been the Kasenkina affair that caused the Kremlin to decide to eliminate this source of truthful news. This incident afforded an excellent demonstration of the effectiveness of our broadcasting, as our true version of the story of Mme. Kasenkina's escape from the Soviet Consulate General in New York was current news in Moscow almost simultaneously with Radio Moscow's propaganda version of her "kidnapping by white guards and bandits," with the implied connivance of the United States Government. Most Russians accepted our version, for the very sound reason that they were familiar with the methods of their own government and secret police. There was much covert laughter among Muscovites over an incident that the Soviet Government took very seriously.

Audience Envious

It certainly enhanced the reputation of the Voice of America broadcasts and increased their audience. Russians from outside Moscow who were not aware of the danger of visiting the American Embassy, and occasionally even a resident who was willing to take a chance, began to visit our information office, which was at a different location from the chancery, and to offer comments.

One of these spontaneously offered the opinion that the principal audience was "youth." He then gave a more precise definition: "The young, cultured working class, aged from 25 to 35, without higher education but having a lively interest in a variety of subjects." He cited himself and his friends—a printer, a barber, a lathe operator and a shoe factory worker—as typical examples of members of this youth group. There were a very large number of such young cultured workers, he said. Their interest in America was not the result of war contacts, but was long-standing one, arising from the fact that "America represents progress—it has authority." This interest is strong, he continued, and it persists in spite of current attempts by the Soviet press to blacken and slander America. Asked directly for his estimate of what percentage of Soviet citizens believed the Voice of America and what percentage believed the Soviet press, he gave a direct answer. He said that, although there are a good many "thoughtful, skeptical people," more than 50 per cent believed the Soviet press and less than 50 per cent believed the Voice of America. He then remarked acutely that the technique of endless repetition as employed by the Soviet press was of tremendous importance.

Several Soviet citizens told us that interest in the Voice was intense in Moscow and that every day the subjects it discussed were spread by word of mouth through the greater part of the city's population. I believe this, because of the immediate spread of our version of the Kasenkina case.

Evidence Multiplied

Gradually, the evidence multiplied that the effect of these broadcasts on Russian thought was very great. The Soviet Government evidently thought about this also. These Byelorussian found that half of the persons he talked with on the train knew of the broadcasts; a farmer from the Caucasus discussed the program content in some detail with an American army officer whom he met on the street; a United States Naval representative at Odessa reported that in Odessa "our broadcasts are apparently now receivable and are being listened to by most Russians having seven-tube sets or better," visitors returning from Leningrad reported that the program was being listened to there just "as in Moscow."

The outstanding characteristic of our broadcasts was truth as opposed to falsehood, and it was a continual source of speculation in Moscow, among Russians as well as among Americans, how long it would be before the Soviet Government took some sort of really effective action to interfere with them. I was surprised that the Kremlin waited until the spring of this year to begin the extensive program of jamming, which has, at least for the time being, almost completely silenced the Voice in the Soviet Union and reduced its audibility by about 50 per cent in many of the satellite countries.

The magazine Amerika has many readers, despite the restrictions of governmental distribution. Worn and dog-eared copies are seen in every corner of the Soviet Union that has been visited by Americans, and, incredible though it may seem, single sheets of the magazine are sometimes sold on the black market at prices ranging up to a ruble (12½ cents at the diplomatic rate) per sheet, depending on the interest of the subject matter it contains.

Foreigners Discredited

Concurrently with its campaign of propaganda and suppression, the Politburo has acted to discredit as much as possible the character and standing of foreigners, particularly of American and British individuals and officials, in the eyes of the Soviet people. The Foreign Office and MVD (secret police) co-operated in this phase of the cold war the line of action being either to "uncover" cases of espionage or to induce Americans to leave their posts and attack the policies of their government and the character of its representatives abroad.

We had two "spy" cases while I was in Moscow, and the British Embassy had one. Our first involved one of our young naval officers, formerly stationed at Odessa, who went to the Moscow customs office to help clear a shipment of furniture and rugs intended for the Embassy. A former Odessa acquaintance, who was in charge of the shipment, which had been routed through that port, offered some comments on recent shipments of heavy material through the Port of Odessa. Since that came from an official, our young officer noted them down with pencil in a notebook whereupon MVD agents entered the room, confiscated the notes and accused him of espionage.

Counteract Canadian Case

The affair was so obviously pre-arranged that I felt certain it was done for propaganda purposes. Consequently, when, two days later, Mr. Vishinsky asked me to call at the Foreign Office, I took with me a copy of the telegram I had sent to Washington reporting the incident. This report stated bluntly that in my opinion the incident was a frame-up and that now, having a spy case, the Soviet Government could be expected to exploit it to the limit to counter-balance the unfavorable world-wide publicity that had been given to the espionage trials involving the activities of Soviet agents in Canada and the United States. When Mr. Vishinsky opened the subject, as I expected he would, I showed him my telegram. He could do no less than deny officially that any propaganda considerations were involved, and the result was that the story actually did not appear in the Soviet press until many months later, after our own and foreign newspapers had given wide publicity to the escape of Mme. Kasenkina. By this time, it had become rather stale and attracted little attention.

One of our correspondents, Robert Magidoff, was the next victim. No American in Moscow was more meticulously careful to observe the letter and spirit of Soviet laws and regulations than was Mr. Magidoff, and I will never know why he was selected to be a "spy" unless it was because he and his Russian-born wife, Nila, had many Soviet friends, some of whom still clung to him. The McGraw-Hill Publishing Company in New York had written, through the regular Soviet mail system, asking for some data on "Soviet industry that, anywhere except in Soviet Union, would have been entirely routine. One of his Soviet employees, a Miss Nelson, read the letter and filed espionage charges against Mr. Magidoff in a letter to the newspaper Izvestia. "The incident was given the widest publicity in the Soviet press and propaganda in a story that alleged that he had received instructions for and had transmitted the results of his espionage through the American Embassy's diplomatic pouch. It was also asserted that he regularly communicated information to U.S. military and naval representatives in Moscow. Mr. Magidoff and his wife were placed under police surveillance and his credentials were withdrawn.

Statement Never Printed

At this time I issued the following statement, which, needless to say, never saw the light of day in any Soviet publication:

"During the more than two years that I have been in Moscow, no correspondent has ever sent news stories through the diplomatic pouch; nor would this be permitted. Neither Mr. Magidoff nor any other correspondent has ever received documents or instructions through the American Embassy in Moscow. I talked with Mr. Magidoff this morning and confirmed the fact that the 'documents and instructions' referred to in Miss Nelson's letter came through the regular Soviet mails. The news items asked for are quite obviously of a type which in the United States and most other countries are considered newsworthy and are given general newspaper publicity as matters on which the public is entitled to information."

The British Embassy also had its troubles. The British military attaché, General Hilton, used a monocle. One winter day, as he was taking his daily constitutional and looking for a slope, within walking distance of the embassy, on which he might practice skiing, he screwed the monocle to his eye. This unusual gadget attracted the attention of an enthusiastic Communist worker in a nearby factory, who assumed that the single lens must be some sort of a camera with which the foreigner was photographing the strategic industry of the Soviet Union. He immediately summoned the police. The situation was complicated by the fact that the general was wearing a rather well worn British military-issue felt coat, and thus, as Mr. Molotov stated in the subsequent exchange of notes, "from his outward appearance did not at all resemble a cultured person, but was dressed as an ordinary worker."

Miss Heather Hughes is tested for her field of vision by C. E. Copeland of the B.C. motor vehicle branch. Test will show to what point Miss Hughes still can see an object at the side while still looking straight ahead.

By ALLAN JENKINS

It doesn't matter how good a driver you showed the examiners you were when first you took your driver's test, some time within the next five years, you and the 286,000 other B.C. drivers are going to have to prove you still are up to the mark.

The re-examinations are a part of the Attorney-General's department's program to promote safety and reduce the toll of fatalities, injuries and property damage. They will begin a week today.

To refresh my memory and possibly yours, I went down to see G. A. Hood, superintendent of the motor vehicle branch, and asked for a test in advance.

It turned out to be the same one the branch has been using right along, except that there is no written test for the re-examination.

There was the dummy driver's seat with steering wheel, accelerator, brake and clutch pedals. In front of and around the seat was an array of equipment which would tell the tale. First a card bearing facsimiles of a fairly large number of standard warning signs. That part of the test was straightforward enough if you've been doing any highway driving recently.

FIRST VISION

Next was the test for field of vision. You stare yourself in the eye by way of a small mirror attached to a semi-circular device you hold in front of you. The examiner, in my case a congenial young man by the name of L. W. Draper, then swivels what looks like a small spatula around the semi-circle. With one eye covered, and still staring ahead at the small mirror, you let out a cry of delight or some form of acknowledgment when it comes into sight, and as he continues moving it around, also inform him when it vanishes.

I was told that on occasion there have been examinees who let their enthusiasm outdo their honesty and try to enlarge on their actual field of vision. One man overdid it to the extent of claiming he still could see it when the not-to-be-outsmarted examiner had the little marker behind the candidate's head.

Next was a test for diplopia (double vision). The examiner puts colored glasses in front of you a number of times and asks you how many lights you can see on a black strip ahead. I won't tell you what my answer was, but I got it right.

There also is a test for hearing. I didn't notice this one but I suppose as long as you hear what the examiner is talking about you are all right.

And, of course, there is the familiar chart with all the lines of letters in diminishing size arranged in a sequence which spells absolutely nothing but lets the examiner know how far ahead of your nose you can see.

Then there are the red, green and amber lights. At least that's what I said they were and nobody told me I was wrong.

NEED QUICK REACTION

These lights are used for a test of your reaction time. I discovered very quickly that the idea is not to exert gentle pressure on your brake pedal when the red light suddenly flashes, but to get your foot off the accelerator and try to push the brake pedal through the floor boards in nothing flat.

For perception of depth, the examiner has you stare into a long black box with little circular discs at the end. These are on the end of rods which are drawn back and forth in opposite directions. When you think they are abreast, you say so. If you are right, you get full marks. If you are out any appreciable amount (there is a scale to show how many feet it would be if they were highway objects), the examiners begin to talk about restrictions on your driver's license.

Next comes the actual driving test. As I was told I would have to take my test anyway when I received a card from the branch to report, I decided to wait.

WAIT FOR NOTIFICATION

However, it brought up two points the examiners are most anxious the public should bear in mind. First, if you already have a driver's license and have taken the test once, do not go down for another until you receive official notification to report.

And, second, when you are notified, bring down a car for the actual road test, as cars are not supplied by the examiners.

Drivers have been divided into three categories in the program for re-examinations. They are: (1) Class "A" chauffeurs and persons over 70 years of age, who will be examined every year; (2) class "B" chauffeurs and persons over 65 and under 70 years of age, who will be examined every two years, and (3) all holders of drivers' licenses and at any other times as may be deemed necessary.

Superintendent Hood does not know how the 286,000 drivers

Confederation Tea Hears B. McKelvie

Sir James Douglas one of Victoria's first citizens and "a great man," was the subject of an address by Bruce A. McKelvie at a successful tea commemorating Confederation Day, sponsored by Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.E. Friday, at the home of Mrs. R. L. Brain, 930 Metcalfe Street.

Mr. McKelvie outlined Sir James' efforts to maintain British influence in this part of the country. He spoke of his fondness for his home and country which "was an inspiration to all who knew him."

Sir James spent money of his own in efforts to defend the Puget Sound cities of Seattle, Port Townsend and Bellingham from warlike Indians. Mr. McKelvie told the meeting.

Mrs. Bertha Parsons, regent, who received the guests, thanked the speaker. J. L. Ford, municipal regent and Mrs. A. McAllister presided at the daintily appointed tea table which was centered with a low bowl of bronze chrysanthemums. Tea was conveyed by Mrs. Brain and Mrs. G. Vantreigh.

Her 'Joe' Wins Blue Ribbon

Miss Dorothy Taylor, publisher of the British Columbian of New Westminster, B.C., admires her Charita Jersey Joe, second senior champion Jersey calf at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. Miss Taylor has many friends in Victoria. — (CP Photo)

TORONTO (CP) — It isn't enough for Dorothy Taylor of New Westminster, B.C., to be editor of the daily newspaper, The British Columbian. She is a cattle breeder, too.

At the Royal Winter Fair recently, her 15-month old Jersey bull, Jersey Joe, placed second in his class.

The cattle-raising story started eight years ago when Miss Taylor was attracted by a pretty face—a cow. She had bought a 15-acre farm and decided it wouldn't be complete without cattle. So she bought the cow, which became Jersey Joe's grandmother.

"Jersey Joe was born just about the time Joe Louis had defeated Jersey Joe Walcott," said Miss Taylor. "I was disappointed because he was a bull. He had club feet, too, and I said he'd never be a champion. So I called him Jersey Joe Walcott." Friends had told Miss Taylor her cattle-raising results would be no good, and it was quite a time before she realized she had well-bred cows. She has only a dozen Jerseys and four calves to choose from. But she took both junior championships in the lower mainland show in British Columbia last spring.

The attractive woman editor works a heavy day running her farm and newspaper. From 5:30 p.m. until eight in the morning she is a farmer. The rest of the time she spends with the British Columbian.

It wasn't until 1941 she really took a leading part in the British Columbian. Her father became editor in 1900 and gradually bought the paper.

Then he and her brother died within three months of each other, and ownership passed to Miss Taylor. She took over the editorial chair on the suggestion of her editor, who retired.

Dorcas Secretary Describes Hospital, Made A Life Member

Mrs. A. Roach, Dorcas secretary, British Columbia Diocesan Board of the Anglican Women's Auxiliaries, was speaker at the board meeting held at St. Martin's, Cloverdale. She gave an account of a recent trip to Alert Bay and a visit to the new hospital building there.

The speaker described the staff, a new matron and two Latvian graduate nurses; the new buildings for the Indian day school, including two houses for teachers, built and furnished by the government and the preventorium for the check of tuberculosis, where there are at present 16 patients.

Mrs. Roach made an inspection of clothing needs at the hospital as the diocesan board supplies the clothing for 102 girls and for the 72 younger boys. A bale of clothing was sent recently and an organ provided for the chapel.

At close of her address, Mrs. Roach was presented with a life membership. Mrs. R. O. Taylor read the service; Miss B. P. Foster presented the certificate and Mrs. M. W. Mackenzie the badge. Flowers were presented by Mrs. G. S. Niven.

Mrs. R. O. Taylor presided; Mrs. R. Willis and Mrs. E. Head took opening prayers and scripture readings and Mrs. R. H. Flint welcomed members for St.

Keep Files On 400,000 Drivers

Row upon row of files keep the records of every person who has held a driver's license in B.C. Man at right is L. W. Merkley, senior clerk in charge of the personal license division.

A surprisingly extensive record of B.C. drivers is kept on file in the motor vehicle branch's Victoria headquarters. Records of drivers who have left the province, ceased driving or died, are added to those of the present 286,000 to swell the total to 400,000.

Row upon row of files carries the records indexed by names. Inside the folders are papers giving the date of examination, the examination paper, results of the actual driving test and a most of other information, including that on any delinquencies of a driver, complete with magistrate's report, convictions, penalty imposed on the driver, every accident in which he has been involved, his proof of financial responsibility and other vital statistics concerning his vehicular activities.

Some of the folders are respectably slim, while other are of an ominous girth, denoting, perhaps, some violent brushes with the law.

The records are not used normally when a driver goes to renew his driver's license, but they are open to search and are consulted by such organizations as insurance companies which wish to check on a policyholder or would-be holder.

In addition, each folder which contains information on an accident also carries reference numbers which can be used to locate the driver's own accident report which is kept on file in another system at the branch.

COBBLE HILL—Plans for construction of a new vicarage were discussed by parishioners of St. John's Church at a meeting under the chairmanship of Rev. E. M. Willis.

The building committee was authorized to proceed with arrangements for construction. Committee members are: Mrs. J. L. Caesar, Miss L. Joyce, R. B. Moulton and E. Bamber.

Pictures By Radio From Antarctica

LONDON (AP)—The Norwegian whaler Norsel tied up at a London dock Sunday and today was taking aboard scientists and equipment for a two-year expedition to Queen Maud Land in Antarctica.

The venture—sponsored by scientific societies and governments of Norway, Sweden and Britain—will attempt to put 14 men ashore to set up housekeeping until April, 1952. As far as is known, no man has ever lived in the forbidding region on the east side of Antarctica.

The expedition will attempt to send back pictures by radio and carry out many research projects. They are not concerned, however, with claiming territory for any country. The segment already is already claimed by Norway.

One Canadian, Dr. E. F. Roots, is a member of the expedition.

Montreal Families Spend More Than They Earn, Says Bureau

OTTAWA (CP)—The average Montreal family spent $8 more than it earned in the year ended Aug. 31, 1948.

Average income of the 526,000 families and single persons in Montreal during the period under review was $2,956, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported at the week-end. Average expenditure was $2,964.

The report gave no indication of how the additional $8 was obtained. It presumably came from savings.

The report on Montreal was the first of a series of reports planned by the bureau on information gathered in a country-wide survey of family expenditures conducted in the fall of 1948. Results of the survey still are being compiled.

The bureau said reports will be issued later for other large cities, for provinces and for Canada as a whole.

To compile the statistics the bureau took economic families—groups of persons who pooled their income and met living expenses from this common fund—rather than conventional families.

Thus grown sons and daughters working and living at home were included in the parents' economic family since their expenses, were almost always mingled with those of their parents, either formally or informally.

CROSS-SECTION

The information on which the Montreal and subsequent reports is based was obtained from a cross-section of Canadian families and single individuals. Detailed data was collected from about 6,000 families.

Food eaten at home accounted for the largest slice of the total average expenditures—24.8 per cent or $736.37. In addition the average economic family spent another $200.02, or 6.8 per cent of total expenditures, on restaurant meals, board, beer and other alcoholic drinks.

French-Language Radio At Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval University, Sunday said it is marvelous to see the descendants of the French and English who fought against each other united in one country and working to build a better nation.

In an address at the opening of Alberta's first French-language radio station, CHFA, Msgr. Vandry said the French in Canada cherished their culture for two centuries after the country was taken by the British.

Now the descendants of the two racial groups were building a new nation where the two cultures have their own place without conflict.

The French-speaking people were convinced that more was to be gained in co-operation and a moulding of the two cultures than if the French were to become Anglicized. The English did not expect the French to be citizens of a lower order but to work together to make a great nation.

Msgr. Vandry said station CHFA was one of the means to keeping the French culture alive for the benefit of both English and French-speaking citizens.

Privy Council Finds B.C. Laws Apply At Empress Hotel Here

LONDON (CP)—The judicial committee of the Privy Council today ruled regulation of working hours of employees at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Empress Hotel, Victoria, is "within the exclusive legislative authority" of the British Columbia government.

The Privy Council dismissed an appeal by the Canadian Pacific Railway against the Supreme Court of Canada's judgment thus rejecting the Canadian Pacific's claim that the employees of the Empress Hotel, as members of a national railroad, are not covered by the British Columbia's Hours of Work Act.

The act limits their working week to 44 hours.

In the judgment, delivered by Lord Reid, the law lords at first ruled that the C.P.R. should pay the costs of the appeal, but on the application of Frank Gahan, formerly of London, Ont., for the company, the law lords decided to reconsider their decision.

Gahan said he knew of no precedent where the costs had been awarded to the respondent in an appeal of this nature.

Chief Justice Thibault of the Supreme Court of Canada, one of the law lords who heard the appeal last July, was not present today.

NOT RAILWAY

Lord Reid said it had been argued that the Empress Hotel constituted a railway within the meaning of section 92 of the British North America Act.

"In their lordships' judgment that is not so. The fact it was thought necessary to specify such things as sidings, stations, railway bridges and tunnels as being included in the definition of 'railway' indicates that the word 'railway' by itself cannot have been intended to have a very wide significance."

The Privy Council's ruling confirms the 44-hour work week for the Empress Hotel's 400 employees. While the case has been before the courts the employees have been working only 44 hours per week.

The British Columbia government brought the matter to the courts by referring the whole question to the B.C. Appeal Court about three years ago. The Appeal Court ruled in favor of the government, with Mr. Justice O'Halloran dissenting.

From the B.C. Appeal Court the C.P.R. took an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, which also ruled against the railway and in favor of the provincial government.

The railway took the final step about a year ago when it appealed the Supreme Court's decision to the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

At the hearing in London the B.C. government was represented by Senator J. W. deB. Farris. The case may well be the last involving the B.C. government on which the Privy Council rules. Legislation now before the House of Commons provides for the Supreme Court of Canada to be the court of final jurisdiction for Canada.

S. Alberta Expects Warmest Autumn

CALGARY (CP)—If the weatherman comes up with forecasts of "sunny and mild" for another five days, Calgary will have the warmest autumn since weather records were kept here. It's the second best so far.

Average temperature for Calgary since Oct. 24 has been 43 above and no rain or snow in that time. The average November temperature since 1885 is 31.5 degrees.

The "best ever," according to the records, was in the fall of 1917 when the mercury averaged 45 degrees above zero for 32 days without a drop of rain.

Golfers, gardeners and even sunbathers have been taking advantage of the balmy weather. Skiers are beginning to grumble.

Derby County Fined; Director Suspended

LONDON (Reuter)—Derby County, one of the leading English League soccer clubs, has been fined £500 ($1,550), one of its directors has been banned indefinitely from all soccer and soccer management, and a former secretary has been "suspended permanently" from soccer activities.

These penalties were announced today by a soccer inquiry commission which has been investigating allegations of failure to pay income tax on the whole of the players' wages, that figures in the club's books had been "manipulated" and that some players' signatures had been forged.

The allegations arose out of a report made by the league auditors. They related, in some cases, to payments made in respect of the first-division club's tour of Czechoslovakia in 1946.

The banned director is R. Robshaw, chairman of the club and the only director concerned who now remains in office. The former secretary is J. S. Catterall.

The league auditors alleged that by failing to apply the income tax system to the whole of the players' wages, to accrued shares of benefits and to payments in relation to the club's tour of Czechoslovakia, £2,710 14s had been withheld from the income tax authorities.

EXTRA WAGES, BONUSES

Other allegations were that some wages paid during the Czechoslovakian tour were in excess of the authorized maximum, that there had been excessive wages and bonus payments to players, that payments had been made to amateurs and professional players for out-of-pocket expenses and no supporting vouchers obtained, and that the directors admitted all these allegations were valid.

The commission said that Catterall had been summarily dismissed when the directors became aware of the facts.

The commission found that the board of the club had entirely failed in its responsibility to supervise the club's financial undertakings during Catterall's employment.

Derby County is one of the oldest clubs in England. It won the English Association Football Cup—the blue riband of English football—in the 1945-46 season, and has been runner-up in the league championship on three occasions.

Dauthuille Battles Kid Gavilan Tonight

MONTREAL (CP)—Laurie Dauthuille of France will clash with New York's Kid Gavilan here tonight in a featured 10-round middle-weight bout.

Dauthuille, who has scored impressive ring victories over Montreal's Johnny Greco and Jake Lamotta of New York, is rated an even money bet by the gambling fraternity.

Gavilan is expected to weigh 148 while Dauthuille will likely tip the scales at 154½.

Vets Blank Juvenile Soccer Leaders; Heaney's Edge Cabs

Veterans of France upset Whitney's, 2 to 0, and Heaney's scored their first win of the season edging Bluebirds Cabs, 2 to 1, in Sunday's Lower Island Juvenile football games.

Two second-half goals provided the Vets with their margin over the league-leaders with Alan Blair netting both counters. Feature of the game was the outstanding work of rival goalkeepers, Glen Bath of Vets and Hugh Hollingworth of Whitney's.

Steadily improving, Heaney's tripped the taximen on goals by Gerry Bowden and Dick Tripp. Herb Wetherall notched Beacon Cabs' lone goal. Heaney's led 1 to 0 at the half.

FIRST POINT

In Saturday's games, Y.M.C.A. garnered its first point of the season by playing to a 2 to 2 tie with St. Louis College in a third-division match and Carey's third-division club tied Argosy Cafe of the second division, 2 to 2.

The scheduled match between Knights of Pythias and St. Saviours went to K. of P. by default.

With League Champions

When San Diego Skyhawks, Coast Hockey League titleholders, oppose the Cougars here tomorrow night they will be skippered by defenceman Norm McKay, above. He is playing his second season with the California club and is reported to be a rugged performer.

Esquimalt Blanks Vets To Top District Loop

Monday morning and another new leader in the Victoria and District Soccer League.

Today it's Esquimalt. Bouncing back from last week's humiliating defeat at the hands of Victoria West, the dockyarders Sunday afternoon blanked Canadian Legion, 2 to 0, to end West's one-day reign as league leaders.

In Sunday's other game in which Navy had a chance to gain a share of the loop's premier position, Duncan Native Sons came from a 3 to 1 half-time deficit to edge the sailors 4 to 3.

On Saturday Victoria West blanked Heaney's 4 to 0 and Oak Bay whipped the wireless, Alcos, 5 to 1.

The way things stack up now, Esquimalt leads with 12 points. Wests are second with 11 and Oak Bay, Navy, Legion and Duncan are tied for third place with 10 points.

Only Alcos of the eight-team league are out of contention as they have yet to notch their first point of the season. Heaney's are only five points out of first place and could still catch the leaders.

Mehek scored his three goals in succession, two of them while Stampede were short-handed. He rattled them past goalie Russ Bertell in the space of four minutes and 51 seconds after the halfway mark of the second period to erase a 3 to 1 Calgary lead.

An uncommon penalty—falling on the puck—was imposed on two Calgary players within one minute to pave the way for Flyers' lightning comeback.

Merluk scored his first goal before Bud Emery of Stampede was waved off for sitting on the puck. Then rookie defenceman Hugh Coffin, last season with Moose Jaw Canucks, drew a penalty for the same offence. Both were off when Merluk got his second marker and Coffin was nearing the end of his penalty when the Flyer leftwinger completed his hat trick.

Other Edmonton marksmen were Doug Anderson and Andy Cleveloch. Calgary goal-getters were Bunny Dame, Coffin, Dunc Grant, Johnny Millard and Mitch Pechet.

San Francisco Shamrocks, southern division front runners, skated to their third win of the year over Fresno Falcons, 6 to 4. Los Angeles Monarchs took their third victory of the season against 15 defeats by downing Oakland, 8 to 2.

Bill Still scored three goals, unassisted, to lead Vancouver Canucks to a 5 to 4 win over Tacoma Rockets.

SEATTLE-SAN DIEGO First Period—1, Seattle, Senick, 5:45; 2, San Diego, Cupolo (Warecki), 12:39. Penalties: Senick, Cupolo. Second Period—2, Seattle, Senick, 2:57; 4, San Diego, Lewis (Brown, Maher), 10:04; 5, San Diego, Tschuk (Vallancourt, Wyrol), 18:25. Penalties: Brown, Tschuk (minor and game misconduct). Third Period—4, Seattle, Stearns, 9:50. Penalties: None.

NEW YORK (CP)—Ohio State and California won Rose Bowl berths Saturday as Notre Dame and Oklahoma, the top two college football teams in the United States on the Associated Press poll, got the scare of their lives in winning.

Ohio State tied Michigan 7 to 7, and also shared the Western Conference title with the Wolverines when place-kicker Jim Hogue converted the Buckeyes' fourth-period touchdown on the second try. He missed on his first but Michigan was offside.

By deadlocking the Wolverines, Ohio State became the Western Conference standard bearers in the Jan. 2 Rose Bowl game. California continued unbeaten by stomping Stanford, 33 to 14, and thus earning a return engagement in the Rose Bowl, where the Bears lost to Northwestern last Jan. 1.

Only the formality of an official vote by faculty members of the Western Conference and Pacific Coast Conference now stands between Ohio State and California being named to the Rose Bowl.

Minnesota's ponderous Gophers just missed the post-season plum. They subdued Wisconsin 14 to 6. Had Ohio State lost, the Gophers might have been chosen.

Notre Dame tied into an old jinx team, Iowa, and won 28 to 7, but for the first time coach Frank Leahy had to sweat it out.

Youth Killed When Hit By Car Driven By Teeter Kennedy

TORONTO (CP)—Ten-year-old Robert Armstrong of suburban Scarborough Township was fatally injured and his companion, Harold Sheppard, 13, suffered a broken leg Saturday night when hit by a car driven by captain Ted (Teeter) Kennedy of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Kennedy told police he was travelling west on Eglinton Avenue and hit the two boys when he swung out from behind a truck. The boys were walking along the highway at the time.

Kennedy took the kids to hospital in his car but the Armstrong boy was dead on arrival. Provincial police said it was snowing and visibility was only 50 yards at the time of the accident.

Provincial Constable E. Hardy, who investigated, said no charges will be laid but an inquest will be held. Kennedy, 24-year-old centre of the National Hockey League team, was driving to Toronto from his home in nearby Whitby, for a league game with Detroit.

Civil Service, Bays Trample Opponents In Roller Puck Tilts

James Bay whipped Esquimalt, 13 to 1, and Civil Service trounced Oak Bay, 8 to 3, in Sunday's roller hockey games at Stevenson Memorial Park.

Glen Murdoch gave Oak Bay the lead against Civil Service but the advantage was short-lived as the government employees rapped in four quick markers to take a 4 to 1 lead by the end of the period. Winners added a pair in the second stanza and matched the losers with a brace in the final canto.

The other game was a rout with James Bay grabbing a 5 to 0 margin in the first period, scoring a pair in the second and closing out the game with six tallies in the final stanza.

Jack Thompson and Wiseman added goals for Oak Bay. It was Alcos ninth loss of the season.

RESTS HIS ACES Coasting on a 17 to 0 lead at the end of the first quarter, Alouettes added insult to injury by playing a flock of second-stringers almost the rest of the way. Coach Lew Hayman was particularly chary of using Frankie Filchick, quarterback field general and ace passer, and Virgil Wagner, the league's leading scorer.

At that, Filchick heaved the forward pass that gave Alouettes their first touchdown, and Wagner's sensational broken-field running with sprints of 75 and 30 yards accounted for two more.

Bobby Cunningham scored the opening touchdown in the first quarter and added another in the last quarter, both majors coming on passes. Chas McCance and Keith English dragged in passes for two more touches and Jim Harper accounted for another on a line plunge.

Play in the Victoria Commercial Hockey League switches over to tonight as the Victoria Cougars will be at home tomorrow night against the San Diego Skyhawks. Another four and a half hour three-game card is scheduled at the Memorial Arena with the opener slated to get under way at 7.

The Royal Canadian Navy sextette, currently tied with the Coach Lines for top position in the six-team circuit, will cross sticks with the hard-pressed Civil Service outfit, only a single point behind the leaders in the opening tussle.

The second tilt will bring together the busmen and Douglas Tire in what should prove to be a good contest. Third game on the program brings into play the Hotelmen and the cellar-dwelling Brotherhood of Papermakers squad.

NAVY GOLF Navy golfers are reminded that entries for the R.C.N.G.A. turkey golf tourney to be played at Colwood Golf Club Thursday, rain or shine, close Tuesday at 12.

Detroit's rampaging Red Wings, hottest team in the National Hockey League race, walloped Toronto Maple Leafs twice during the week-end to run out their current winning streak to eight straight.

The victories, by identical scores of 5 to 2, consolidated the Red Wing's seven-point lead at the top of the loop, Montreal Canadiens missed a chance Sunday to overtake the second-place Leafs when they lost to the cellar-dwelling Boston Bruins 2 to 1. A victory would have put Montreal a point ahead of Toronto.

New York Rangers moved into a fourth-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks by defeating the Hawks 5 to 2 in Chicago Sunday night before 15,066 fans. Both teams now have 13 points.

Joe Carveth, a recent Detroit acquisition, highlighted the Detroiters' assaults on the world champion Leafs, scoring three goals and three assists in the two contests.

Toronto was leading 2 to 1 early in the middle frame on goals by Harry Watson and Howie Meeker but suddenly blew up under Detroit pressure and the Wings netted three goals in 55 seconds.

Jack Stewart, tough Detroit rearguard, took 15 stitches over his eye and down his nose after he slid into a puck shot at the Detroit goal by Thomson. His eye will be examined by a specialist. Bill Ezinnicki, who set up the first Toronto goal, made the Detroit trip Sunday with a swollen face. He took six stitches in his mouth Saturday after being hit by a puck.

A two-goal rally in the third period gave Boston Bruins their victory over Canadiens at Boston Sunday. Canadiens' first tally ended 107 minutes and nine seconds of scoreless play in Boston between the two teams. They played a scoreless tie recently.

The Haints owed their only goal to a pretty passing play by Leo Gravelle who whizzed down the left lane, rounded the net and passed to Billy Reay, Reay slipped the disc to Norm Dussault, who blasted it in.

Three minutes and eight seconds later a 30-foot angle shot, fired by blonde Dave Creighton, whistled past goalie Bill Durnan in the Montreal nets. Another two minutes later Eddie Harrison banged home the winning score, sliding it past Durnan as he sat on the ice.

MONTREAL (CP)—How a 40 to 0 drubbing of Hamilton Tigers can properly be assessed against a coming clash with Calgary's Stampede plagued many a supporter of Montreal Alouettes today.

The big red Montreal team left nothing to be desired yesterday in dragging a toothless Tiger ignominiously by the tail through the mud and mire of Delorimer Stadium.

It was a conclusive victory in the eastern Canada football final for the Montrealers who will meet the defending Calgarians Saturday at Varsity Stadium in Toronto for the Dominion championship.

Coach Les Lear of Stampede personally scouted the game for his 1948 Grey Cup holders.

A paid-attendance crowd of 15,343 saw Alouettes, winners of the Big Four League playoffs, pile up seven touchdowns and five converts against the hapless titleholders of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

At that, Filchick heaved the forward pass that gave Alouettes their first touchdown, and Wagner's sensational broken-field running with sprints of 75 and 30 yards accounted for two more.

Lindsay Bolsters Margin At Head Of Major Ice Scorers

Sharp-shooter Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings garnered a goal and three assists during the week-end to widen his leading margin in the National Hockey League scoring race. With 21 points for eight goals and 13 helpers, he has a three-point lead over teammates Gordie Howe and Sid Abel and Chicago's Doug Bentley.

Three points further back, in third place, are Paul Ronty, Boston, and Roy Conacher, Chicago, each with 15 points. They have a single-point edge on three other N.H.L. puck-pushers—John Peirson, Boston; George Gee, Detroit, and Bill Mosienko, Chicago.

Leaders follow: G. A. Pts. Lindsay, Detroit, 21; Howe, Detroit, 15; Abel, Detroit, 15; Bentley, Chicago, 15; Ronty, Boston, 15; Conacher, Chicago, 15; Peirson, Boston, 14; Gee, Detroit, 14; Mosienko, Chicago, 14.

At that, Filchick heaved the forward pass that gave Alouettes their first touchdown, and Wagner's sensational broken-field running with sprints of 75 and 30 yards accounted for two more.

Bobby Cunningham scored the opening touchdown in the first quarter and added another in the last quarter, both majors coming on passes. Chas McCance and Keith English dragged in passes for two more touches and Jim Harper accounted for another on a line plunge.

Play in the Victoria Commercial Hockey League switches over to tonight as the Victoria Cougars will be at home tomorrow night against the San Diego Skyhawks. Another four and a half hour three-game card is scheduled at the Memorial Arena with the opener slated to get under way at 7.

The Royal Canadian Navy sextette, currently tied with the Coach Lines for top position in the six-team circuit, will cross sticks with the hard-pressed Civil Service outfit, only a single point behind the leaders in the opening tussle.

The second tilt will bring together the busmen and Douglas Tire in what should prove to be a good contest. Third game on the program brings into play the Hotelmen and the cellar-dwelling Brotherhood of Papermakers squad.

NAVY GOLF Navy golfers are reminded that entries for the R.C.N.G.A. turkey golf tourney to be played at Colwood Golf Club Thursday, rain or shine, close Tuesday at 12.

Seattle Rallies For Tie With San Diego

Seattle's Ironmen fought back behind to gain a 3 to 3 deadlock with the San Diego Skyhawks Sunday after twice blowing leads in their Coast Hockey League contest.

Seattle, northern division leader, had held 1 to 0 and 2 to 1 margins midway in the contest on solo goals by George Senick.

Bill Cupolo converted Stan Warecki's rebound to get the first one back and Hector Legris knotted the count on a double assist after Seattle lost Pete Tallifer on a game misconduct penalty

Little Fellows Star In United Soccer Win

Victoria United may have one of the smallest forward lines in the Coast Football League but it proved no handicap Saturday as three of the little fellows starred in the club's 5 to 4 triumph over Vancouver City. With nothing at stake the clubs put on one of the most interesting exhibitions of the campaign which was thoroughly enjoyed by the good crowd.

Woe Andy Anderson with two goals, Denny McGee with a goal and an assist and Ab Travis with a goal and assists on three others were the spark plugs of the United forward wall. Red McMillan, making his first start at centre-half, turned in a creditable exhibition while the United's two backs, Murray Speller and John Pickburn worked hard. Outside right Denny Rogers and centre-half Joe Jordan were the pick of the visitors.

Match closed out the United's first half schedule with the club scheduled to engage Nanaimo here Saturday in a first-round Anderson Cup fixture.

United opened the scoring after 25 minutes, inside left McGee nipping in to boot home a rebound from centre-forward Tommy Druce's header following a free kick taken by Jack Wilce. Five minutes later City tied the score Rogers cutting in from the right wing to pick the far corner with a beautiful shot from a tough angle.

TWO FAST GOALS

With less than five minutes remaining in the half United swept through for two goals. Left winger Travis crossed into the goalmouth and McGee slipped the ball to Anderson who made no mistake. On their next rush Travis took a perfect pass from Wilce on the opposite wing and just pushed the ball between the posts.

Fans had hardly settled in their seats when Druce made it 4 to 1 with the start of the second half, Travis making the pass to the centre-forward for the goal. With the City wing halves being allowed to roam at will the mainlanders struck back for two quick goals, Johnny Letson and Ivan Carr being responsible.

United settled down and broke through for their fifth goal Anderson beating goalie Ray Dixon after Travis had centred the ball from the left flank. Gogie Stewart registered City's fourth and final score as a smart individual effort that saw him trick three opponents before hitting the net.

Newcomer Jim Morgan started at inside right for the United but was unable to stand the fast pace and left in favor of Anderson early in the first half.

In a match on the mainland first half champion St. Andrews edged New Westminster Royals 3 to 2.

British Home-Breds Capture Five Major Racing Classics

LONDON (CP)—The British flat-racing season ended Saturday amid Manchester mud and with leaves falling from the trees which circle the course at Lingfield, Sussex. Until spring rolls around again, horse lovers will have to focus their attention on steeplechasers.

Meantime they can spend the long winter evenings in happy contemplation of the fact that British blood lines finally are winning back their old prestige through Europe and in recalling that 1949 was the first year since the war that home-breds won all five of the year's classic races.

Three horses shared the five major prizes. Shipping magnate N. P. Donaldson's Musidora took two female blue ribbons—the 1,000 Guineas at Newmarket and the Oaks at Epsom. Mrs. M. Glenister's Nimbus scored in the 2,000 Guineas and the Derby over the same courses.

The St. Leger at Doncaster, went to Geoffrey Smith's Ridge Wood.

The French remain a power on English turf, however. French owners altogether lifted $34,404 ($106,652.40) in British purses, substantially less than last season.

The leading owner again was the Aga Khan, who picked up $68,719.

Champion jockey for the 22nd time was evergreen Gordon Richards, who racked up the second most successful season of his career with 261 winners. For a time it appeared he might break his 1947 all-time mark of 269 but he ran into a minor late-season slump which ended his chances.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The boys along the hockey beat are getting a lot of laughs out of retelling the story of a recent ruckus between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens during which Gus Mortson made the mistake of tangling with the fiery Maurice (Rocket) Richard. . . Maurice let fly with a right to the chin and Gus took a count. . . Afterward a critic questioned Richards' boxing ability, asking why he didn't lead with his left. "Why," asked the Rocket, "should I let him have the easy one first?"

Proving that somebody can do something about the weather, the Grosinger Country Club in the Catskill (north of New York City) is building an artificial skating rink. With a lake and skating pond already there, the customers can bust limbs regardless of the temperature.

BOOM OR BUST

Football has now reached the annual boom-or-bust season—when the alumni either are booming or trying to bust a losing coach out of his job. . . Offhand, we'd say the coaches on the worst spots are Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross, Art Valpey of Harvard, Slick Morton at Mississippi State and Chick Atkinson at Brigham Young. But so far the wolf howls haven't been too loud. . . Morton, for instance, was smart enough to tell the alumni in advance they'd have to wait a couple of years for a winner and they say the Mississippi State freshman roster reads like the roll of a United Mine Workers' local in Pennsylvania. . . Other reports, not guaranteed, say that Alabama's Red Drew and Southern Methodist's Matty Bell may advance to the less trying duties of being athletic directors.

Charles Conyers, War Veteran And Customs Official, Passes

Charles Conyers, former surveyor of customs and widely known in musical circles, died suddenly from a heart attack at his home, 24 Wellington Avenue, today.

Mr. Conyers was born in Bermuda and came to Victoria in 1909. He entered the customs service then and served with it until his retirement a year ago.

Mr. Conyers was a member of the Fifth Regiment before the First World War and joined the 62nd Battery as a sergeant in 1916. He served in France with the 58th Battery and was recommended for his commission on the field.

On his return to civilian life he became active in musical circles and was popular as a soloist. He was a member of the Arion Club for many years. He is survived by his widow and one son, James.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Children's Stories To Be Weekly Event

The children's story hour attended by 30 eager youngsters in the Victoria Public Library Friday afternoon, may become a regular winter feature. Already it has run to Friday afternoons, with program director and storyteller, Ted Reynolds, telling new stories to the children each week.

Alan MacMillan, 1276 Richardson Street, was fined $10 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to having crossed a double white line and gone to the wrong side of his road in passing a bus on the Gorge Road.

SALMON UP GOLDSTREAM—The annual migration of salmon up Goldstream is under way again. Hundreds of lower Vancouver Islanders are stopping to watch the fish as they struggle upstream, jumping, straining and flopping about in their determination to reach the spawning grounds. Here, cars line a bridge over the stream as drivers and passengers peer into the teeming waters.

P.T.A.'s To Support Library Extension

First offer of help to J. F. K. English, publicity chairman, and the library board in the drive for expanded library quarters was that given by the Parent-Teachers' Association of Greater Victoria. In a meeting last week of the executive of the association, the executive went on record as backing the library in their appeal to the voters of Victoria to support the by-law for a library addition on December 8. The executive also offered the whole support of their city-wide telephone committee, to contact the 14,000 Victoria property owners who are eligible to vote on the proposed by-law.

One Third Of Petitioners Disqualified By Checkers

One of every three names on the Junior Chamber of Commerce petition for a city manager by-law had to be discounted as the signatories were not registered voters, Pat Bate, chairman of a committee which supervised circulation of the petition, revealed today after a week-end check.

Of the 1,385 persons who signed the petition during the three days of campaigning, only 955 were found to be city property owners and thus eligible to have their signatures count. Those with authority to sign the petition numbered enough, however, to make the petition effective.

Since the 955 qualified names represent more than 5 per cent of the city's registered voters, it is mandatory under the province's Municipal Manager Act for City Council to recognize petitioners' demand and submit a by-law on the question to the voters. TO COUNCIL TUESDAY

The petition will be formally submitted to council at the regular meeting Tuesday. Arthur J. Patton, city solicitor, has already drafted a by-law to meet the demand of petitioners. It will be submitted to property owners when they go to the polls next election day, Dec. 8.

Council will probably withdraw now a by-law on a city administrator plan which it had prepared for submission to voters.

Main difference between the manager plan, wanted by petitioners, and the administrator plan which council favored is that the former office carries greater authority.

188 U.S. Farmers Visit Victoria On Continental Tour

A party of 188 U.S. farmers and their wives arrived in Victoria aboard the Black Ball Line's Mv. Chinook this morning for a brief tour of the city.

The farmers, members of the National Grange ("Patrons of Husbandry") are on a 21-day tour which began Nov. 5 and took them to the annual convention of their organization at Sacramento, Calif.

Following sightseeing, luncheon at the Empress Hotel and a shopping tour in downtown Victoria, the farmers left again for Seattle en route home.

Escorted by Dr. Reed Rawding, Travel Service Bureau Inc., Brookline, Mass., the farmers are from 19 states, principally in the east. The states they represent are: Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, New Jersey, Michigan, Oklahoma, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Children's Relief Film Has Canadian Premiere In City

Victorians will have an opportunity tonight to see a film completed within the past two months which was presented to President Truman less than a week ago and which has not been shown anywhere else in Canada.

It is a film which should interest Canadians, for it shows the work of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund in many countries. Canada not only supports the fund, but many of the goods purchased by the fund for relief work come from this country.

Sydney W. "Bill" Morrell, veteran newspaperman and former intelligence officer for the British and American forces, will show the film at a meeting at Prince Robert House this evening at 8. It was enthusiastically received in a preview showing to Victoria

High School students this morning.

NOT STRICTLY RELIEF AGENCY

Mr. Morrell, who is starting a tour of western Canada here, today told of the work of the children's emergency fund (UNICEF), and pointed out that it was not strictly a relief agency, since governments of countries which receive aid must match supplies sent in.

The fund is financed by contributions from governments of some countries, including Canada, and for every dollar put up the United States government puts up $2.57, Mr. Morrell said.

In addition, individual contributions are accepted. This is the only United Nations agency, he added, through which an individual can show his support of the world organization.

Mr. Morrell, director of publicity of the U.N. Appeal for Children, proceeds of which go to UNICEF, told of a campaign under way to test and immunize 100,000,000 children—half in Europe and half in Asia. So far, 15,000,000 have been tested and 8,000,000 vaccinated in Europe.

UNICEF, he said, has complete freedom of movement behind the "Iron Curtain," since this must be guaranteed by U.N. countries.

Alfred E. Cave, 76, Passes Suddenly

Alfred E. Cave, aged 76, of 784 Fairview Road, who had been a resident of Victoria for 59 years, died suddenly Saturday at Dominion and Esquimalt Road intersection.

For many years he was a postman and later employed by the B.C. Electric Railway in the ticket office on Broad Street.

In the early part of the century he was noted for his singing and theatrical ability. He was an early member of the Local Aerie No. 12 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, also an old member of Court Vancouver, Ancient Order of Foresters. At the time of his death he was deputy returning officer of Esquimalt Municipality.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 from Sands Mortuary.

Many Stitches Needed To Close Boy's Wounds

Severe lacerations to both legs, said to have required close to 50 stitches, were suffered by Malcolm Clark, eight-year-old son of Royal Roads instructor Lt.-Cmdr. J. M. Clark and Mrs. Clark last Friday in accident on Royal Roads property. It was reported today.

It is reported that the boy fell out on the pavement from a moving truck he was a passenger in when the door suddenly flew open.

CHAPTER XXIV

MRS. MALONE brought a basin of warm water and a cloth. Gently she bathed Mrs. Everson's face and hands. There were bruises around her wrists, bloody circles where the rings had been. Her lips were dark and swollen and her cheek was laid open.

All of this was horrible; but more horrible was the woman's humiliation in defeat. She took long, shuddering breaths, but there were no tears in her eyes—only a dry, ferocious rage.

"Where do you keep your medicines?" Mrs. Malone demanded.

"They are in the sedan," Victor said quickly.

"Let's go then!" The storm was now coming on in earnest. The lightning was a constant glare and thunder jarred the earth like siege guns. A high wind lashed the trees, roared through their swaying tops. As Victor and Mrs. Malone reached the bank, the first drops fell.

Then the clouds opened, and down came an enormous, overwhelming weight of water. Even under the trees it beat upon them and knocked the breath from their bodies.

In the sedan the roar of pounding water was staggering. Victor turned on the dome light and Mrs. Malone fumbled in the medicine chest. Sulfa ointment, bandages, adhesive tape. She wrapped them in a bit of oil cloth. All with furious haste. Then she stopped.

Victor stared at her, his eyes

New Serial Tomorrow

a little wild.
"No use even trying," Mrs. Malone insisted. "We'd drown out there! Nothing to do but wait. It can't last long at this rate!"

RIVER IN FLOOD

As the minutes passed and that incredible torrent continued to pour down, a kind of numbing terror took possession of Mrs. Malone. The wind did subside, and the thunder and lightning diminished. Then, abruptly, completely the rain stopped. Only a distant flicker of lightning remained, and the softer patter of drops from the trees.

Victor and Mrs. Malone clambered out, shivering, and set off through the woods. Neither of them spoke. Instead, tensing every faculty, they listened. Because now there seemed to be a new sound, as yet hardly more than a presentiment.

At the river bank they stopped, straining to identify this new presence. The sound rose in volume, a peculiar heavy growl that seemed to come from the mountains themselves. Victor shone his powerful flashlight upstream in the direction of the disturbance.

Suddenly they saw it; a steep slope of raging water, that hurried down the river bed, taking with it trees, stumps, great boulders, pushing the debris before it like a battering-ram.

Victor switched his flashlight beam to the gleaming trailer on the sand spit below. One instant it was there—beside the piled-up barrels and crates from the truck. The next, the churning tide struck and overturned them, lifted and tossed them, overwhelmed them.

The smashing of lumber and glass and metal was lost in the greater confusion of the flood, the titanic roaring of the water, the appalling jar and thud of huge boulders hammering together in the river bed.

The crest passed. The great trailer was gone. Where the sand spit had been, a deep, tugging torrent surged by.

WORLD STILL SAFE

It all happened in the space of a few minutes. Mrs. Malone had a curious sense of detachment, as if she were only a spectator, in no way concerned with the tragic drama itself. Her teeth were chattering and her hair had come down.

She thought: "I'm alive." She said it over and over to herself, trying to realize the miracle of sentence. But fear and shock had left her mind dark, and she felt neither relief nor exultation, only a sense of loss and dread.

Victor was staring at the river. Now he turned to Mrs. Malone. "Everything is gone," he said dully. "Everything..."

He moved his hand in a limp gesture of despair. "There is no safety anywhere. We are finished!"

Mrs. Malone took him gently by the arm and led him back to the trailer in the woods. He slumped down at the table, his head on his arms.

"Whatever shall we do?" he moaned. "We cannot stay here and we cannot go out. Mrs. Everson said it is already too late."

Mrs. Malone fumbled in the cupboard, found some whiskey and poured him a stiff drink. As he gulped, Mrs. Malone had an inspiration: she turned on the radio. For a few moments, while the tubes heated, there was silence.

Then a wave of familiar, reassuring sound filled the little room. It was a Pacific Coast night-club, going full blast. Behind the steady beat and drone of the orchestra could be heard, small and distinct, the clink of glasses, the flutter of conversation, an occasional gay laugh.

Evidently it was a good party. "You see!" Mrs. Malone cried eagerly. "The world is perfectly safe, after all! It hasn't really come to an end!"

A glimmer of hope lighted Victor's face. "No," he said hesitantly. "Not yet."

Bal-Point 'Perfume Pen' Is Latest Gimmick For Milady

Looking at a cosmetics counter in a drug store, you would think there could hardly be anything new in the field of perfumes—but there is a gentleman in town today who gave Victoria women a preview of one of the snappiest little gimmicks for milady since lipstick took over from red grease from a jar.

It is a ball-point perfume dispenser, and it will be available in local stores in plenty of time for Christmas, men, according to Leon Lippel, formerly of England, but now working in Montreal.

Mr. Lippel, who readily admits he is plugging the Kory perfume pen is the sales manager for Metadler Perfumes, Montreal, said the streamlined, three-inch dispenser practically marks a new era on the Canadian scent scene.

NOT BEHIND THE EAR
But word of advice on the use of the easily carried, leak-proof perfume pen, ladies: you should not apply perfume behind your ears—the fragrance will just evaporate, or, if you douse yourself with it, will go stale.

Mr. Lippel, who has been in the perfume business for years, and who obtained much of his knowledge on the subject at Grasse, France, said better effects can be obtained by placing perfume in the crook of your elbow, behind your knee or in the vicinity of the plunging neckline.

Since he arrived in Canada a year ago today, the scent expert said he has formed the opinion there is room for a Canadian perfume industry.

He pointed out experiments are being made in New York to perfect perfumes from native
Canadian flowers and fragrant woods, in keeping with recent inclinations toward returning to floral scents.

Mr. Lippel took time out from business today briefly to note it was his 38th birthday. He spent the week-end seeing Victoria—the first city he has had time to look around.

Canoe," legends of the Cowichan of the coast Salish. Illus-

Further Delay

Trial of Monty Montaine, proprietor of the Club Sirocco, was delayed another week today when Magistrate Henry C. Hall allowed another remand.

Montaine is charged by police with allowing a public dance to continue past the hour of midnight on a Saturday night.

James Proudfoot, counsel for accused, has admitted he intends to make a test case of the clear, colorless and odorless liquid which will not stain clothing. Application is simple, you first wash the affected parts with pure soap and warm water. Dry, get this prescription from your druggist, simply ask for 3 ozs.

of Exoff Concentrated and if your skin is tender, cracks, or gets dry, you should also obtain 1/2-oz. of Exoff Ointment.

new prescription is for external use and is a combination of oils

you massage gently into the skin.
The use of the Ointment once or twice every 24 hours will be beneficial. Cut these prescriptions out to remind you or to pass on to a friend.

The Charlotte will be the third C.P.R. coast ship purchased by Typaldos Bros. The other two, the Princesses Adelaide and Alice, now named the Angelika and Aegeon, respectively, already have sailed from here for Greece where they will enter passenger service between the Creek mainland and the islands after further conversion work is done there. The Angelika sailed in September, and the Aegeon sailed Saturday.

Seek Typewriter To Establish Validity Of Will

They Read The Good News

Left, Gilbert Campbell of Vancouver, Canada's wealthiest fireman, with his lawyer, C. S. Arnold, and right, L. A. Menendez, court registrar, reads the will of James Thomson, veteran hotelman, which left him $600,000, less taxes. Handwriting in the will which disposed of Thomson's estate of $900,000 is under question by members of his family. Search has also been instituted for the typewriter on which the two-page document was inscribed.

$900,000 Fortune At Stake

VANCOUVER (CP)—An unidentified typewriter may prove to be a vital link in the chain of evidence needed to establish final authenticity of the will of James Thomson, millionaire Vancouver hotelman.

It is understood search for the machine used to type the $900,000 document is about to be instituted.

This and other proceedings are being started in order to establish the fact that the testament is authentic, legal authorities said. Thomson was believed to have died intestate until the dramatic discovery of the will in a real estate office last week.

It spread a fortune among 50 beneficiaries.

Importance of the typewriter in the case stems from the fact that the document is in two pages. Only the second is signed.

All the major bequests, including the one for city fireman Gilbert Campbell for a third of a million dollars, appear on the first page.

'Chute Found May Give Hint Of Plane's Fate

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Searchers in the rugged forests north of Oslo today found a signal parachute believed to be from a Dutch airliner missing with 35 persons, including 29 Jewish refugee children.

Authorities said the plane apparently dropped the flare-bearing parachute in an effort to determine its position after missing the airfield here.

The main weight of the search shifted to the west side of the Oslo fjord after searchers returned empty handed from a region southeast of Oslo where a column of smoke was reported earlier.

The search was handicapped by heavy fog and rain, which kept planes grounded and lowered visibility, sometimes to a few yards.

FOUR STAR FINAL

Millions Barely Single Meal Away From Starvation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Throughout half the world hunger is scarcely one meal away from millions," Norris E. Dodd, United Nations food authority, said today.

For that reason, he urged most of the world's food experts gathered here to stop shilly-shallying and either adopt a plan to create a multi-billion dollar commodity clearing house to feed hungry nations or turn their energies to other plans.

Dodd is director general of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations which met here in its fifth plenary session.

Speaking to representatives of 58 nations, Dodd acknowledged that food shortage is "no longer perilous for nearly the whole world, as it was through 1947."

"For more than half the world, however," he said, "the old chronic undernourishment continues and hunger is scarcely one meal away from millions. For the world as a whole, per person food supplies are not as good as before."

Dodd is a former U.S. Undersecretary of Agriculture. He made a strong plea for the commodity clearing house proposal, which is his own, as one not perfect but which could be improved in practice.

"I will be very surprised if my colleague (Transport Minister Chevrier) does not recommend legislation to the House at an early date," he said in reply to a question from Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver-Quadrant).

Mr. Howe tabled the report on behalf of Mr. Chevrier, who was indisposed.

Mr. Green also asked if there was to be an investigation into the grounding near the entrance to Vancouver Harbor of the passenger steamship Chelonia. The accident, which took place Nov. 6, involved no loss of life, but he understood it involved radar and that regulations do not force a ship to comply with directions given by radar stations.

Mr. Howe said he would reply to the question later.

Israel Sets Limit On Pilgrims During Catholic Holy Year

JERUSALEM (UP)—Two thousand Catholic pilgrims a week will be permitted to enter Israel during the 1950 Holy Year, the Israeli government said today.

The number will be held to 2,000 because of a lack of accommodations, the government said.

The interministerial committee dealing with the pilgrims said Israeli immigration officials throughout the world have been instructed not to grant visas to groups of more than 25 without first clearing them with Tel Aviv.

Fire Out Of Control In Pootstown, Pa.

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Fire raged out of control in the heart of Pottstown's business district today.

Hundreds of fire fighters battled the flames that first attacked a three-story drug and department-store building and spread to adjoining buildings.

First reports indicated the blaze was started when an oil burner exploded. At least six persons were injured.

Pottstown is a city of 25,000 some 40 miles west of Philadelphia.

Ohio, California Formally Named To Rose Bowl Game

The announcement was made by conference commissioner Victor T. Schmidt after a telegraphic poll of all the members.

After whipping Stanford in the final Saturday California's selection to oppose Ohio State Jan. 2 was considered a mere formality. The Bears went undefeated through 10 games this season, seven of them in the conference.

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State was officially named today as the big-10 team to play in the Rose Bowl football game Jan. 2.

Much Changes Hands In Sale Of Indians' Baseball Interests

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sale of the Cleveland Indians amounts to a major business deal for a club which has won the World Series twice—in 1920 and in 1948.

The purchaser got, among other things, eight star players, the ownership of League Park, and a farm system.

The 40-man Tribe roster includes pitcher Bob Lemon, who won 22 and lost 10 last year; pitcher Bob Feller, who won 15 and lost 14; shortstop and manager Lou Boudreau, who batted .284; second baseman Joe Gordon, who batted .252; first baseman Mickey Vernon (.291); outfielders Dale Mitchell (.317) and Larry Doby (.280); and rookie pitcher Mike Garcia, who won 14 and lost five.

Both Boudreau and Gordon turned in lesser performances last year than in 1948, when Boudreau hit .355 and Gordon smacked in 124 runs.

The Indians either own or have working agreements with 13 minor league clubs, including: Class AAA—San Diego, Pacific Coast League. (See story, "Veck Sells," Page Three.)

Act Gives Captain Of Noronic Right To Appeal Finding

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Shipping Act gives Capt. William Taylor the right to appeal the one-year suspension of his sea-going certificate because of the disastrous fire aboard his ship, the Noronic.

The suspension was ordered today by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock who found the captain and the owners, Canada Steamship Lines, guilty of "wrongful default" in the loss of the ship and 118 lives.

Costs of the 18-day investigation were charged against the firm. All the bills aren't in yet but informed sources estimate they will run between $50,000 and $100,000.

Any appeal by Capt. Taylor would be made to the Admiralty section of the Exchequer Court. Officials said the C.S.L. cannot appeal the finding.

$2,500 Bail Set In Manslaughter Case

Bail was set at $2,500 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt police court this afternoon after William H. A. Monk, six-foot-three gunner of the Royal Canadian Artillery, was formally charged with manslaughter. Charge arose out of the traffic death last Wednesday of Gunner Gerald Burton Soles, Haney, B.C., on Peters Street when an army truck driven by Monk hit Soles.

Case was remanded to Wednesday morning at 9:30 to enable Monk's commanding officer, Maj. Andrew Clark, to arrange for counsel. Preliminary hearing date will probably be set then. H. G. Sedger is prosecutor in the case. Magistrate Hall pointed out that if the bail set could not be raised the matter could be spoken to again.

Beware The White Line

You can hypnotize yourself into an accident by watching the white centre line too closely, says Carol Lane of New York, travel expert for the Shell Oil Co. "A drowsy or overtired driver who stares steadfastly at the line and fails to keep a sharp eye on oncoming cars and side traffic is almost certain to meet disaster sooner or later," she warns. Use the white line as a safety guide, not as a hypnotic trap.

Britain Finds Real South Sea Paradise

LONDON (AP)—The British Colonial Office has found the real paradise in the South Seas.

Its annual report of the colony comprising the Gilbert and Ellice Island groups in the Pacific is a cheerful book for the homesteader. Here's how the islands look, in the book: Housing shortage—none; destitution—unknown; delinquency—negligible. Taxes—very low; budget—just about balanced.

The colony has 37 coral atolls and islands, with a population of 36,000, including 304 Europeans. The land area is 375 square miles, scattered over 2,000,000 square miles of sea. A boom in copra prices boosted the colony's income.

Toronto Fireman Threatens District Chief; Suicides

TORONTO (CP)—Fireman George Lee fatally shot himself with a revolver in a west-end fire hall today after threatening to kill a district chief whom he suspected was responsible for his demotion.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson termed the shooting a suicide and said there will be no inquest. Acting District Chief Robert Gaston said he saved his life by slamming shut the door of his room above the fire hall and shouting for help.

Police said Gaston's life might have been saved by an act of God. Examination of the revolver showed the trigger had been pulled twice. Each time it misfired. The third shot entered just below Lee's heart. Gaston said that when the fire-

Sweepstake Ticket Holders Lost Chance As Dates Confused

QUEBEC (CP)—A mix-up in dates may have robbed some Army and Navy sweepstakes ticket holders of their chances on the Manchester November Handicap last Saturday. But they'll be looked after in the next sweepstakes operated by Quebec Unit No. 33 of the Army, Navy and AAR Force Veterans in Canada.

Although the race was run Nov. 19, sweep tickets on the handicap bore the date Nov. 26. Ticket distributors were told to have their books of stubs in by Nov. 15.

A spokesman for the sweepstakes organization said here today that the ticket date misprint arose months ago from faulty information coming here from England, where the race is run. He said there was a possibility that some tickets may not have been in the Manchester draw.

"However," he added, "they'll be automatically entered in the next sweep. Each ticket buyer gets a receipt and it will be easy to protect any ticket buyer involved."
